Useless Knowledge
Lengthens Life and Exalts Man's Spirit

BLESSED are they that seek out useless knowledge. For they shall lengthen the life and exalt the spirit of man.
If you go so far away in space that you can get outside the universe, or so far down the scale of life as to study the parasites of vermin, you are near the limits of the "useless." Yet the American Association for the Advancement of Science has just divided its award between the two men who did just this. Dr. Edwin Hubble, of Mt. Wilson, measured the two nearest nebulae. One of them is 750,000 and the other 930,000 light years away—over five thousand million times a thousand million miles. Dr. L. R. Cleveland, of Johns Hopkins, has been studying the parasitic protozoa which live in the intestines of white ants.
"Great fleas have little fleas upon their backs to bite 'em; And these in turn have lesser fleas, and so ad infinitum."
What is the "use?" Well, Dr. Cleveland found out how to kill his protozoa without killing the ants. The method will not work with human beings, but it is the first step toward finding other which may. Then we shall know how to make the tropics healthy and inhabitable by civilized men. Dr. Hubble's nebulae are the two nearest.

When he has measured a few more, to establish an average standard of size and brightness, he can estimate the distances of the rest from their apparent brightness. Then we shall have expanded our conception of the universe of universes a trillion times. In that universe we may be as insignificant as Dr. Cleveland's protozoa. But it is a tremendous expansion of the soul to know it.

SIR ADAM BECK, of Canada, violently resents a pamphlet on the Ontario power system put out by Samuel S. Weyer, an employee of the Smithsonian Institution. Apparently the Ontario public-owned system sold electricity for domestic lighting—that is, to the consumers having the most votes—at less than cost, and made up the difference in higher rates to others, and in concealed subsidies. To which Sir Adam retorts that Mr. Weyer is another, and then some.

This is a controversy of long standing, which ought to be settled by some method more impartial than mutual recrimination. There are two power plants in Ontario, the one on the Canadian side under public ownership, and that on the American side under private ownership. The temptation is therefore irresistible to use them as a basis of comparison between the two systems of operation. Each claims to serve its consumer better and cheaper than the other, and presents figures to prove it. Somebody not concerned to prove either case, but competent to analyze the figures, ought to find out the truth.

There is magic in either public or private ownership. If either is cheaper, than cheapness consists of certain items, in certain amounts due to certain causes, all ascertainable. There are men who can find out the truth about these items, if that is what they are set to do. If they are interested parties, or hired by interested parties, nobody will believe them, even when they are right.

There should be some investigation whose motives and good faith could not be questioned, and whose figures, therefore, could be analyzed mathematically, instead of morally and emotionally. If Mr. Weyer's report has not satisfied critics of its good faith, somebody should make another.

EVERYBODY should ride a hobby. President Coolidge is riding a literal one—a hobby horse with electrical apparatus to put it through the bumps. The president, being an earnest person, has the moral stamina to persevere in that sort of efficiency.

Most of us need the stimulus of the actual horse and of pretending we are going somewhere on it. But whether it is a horse, hobby or real, a garden, a collection, books, a farm, radio, sport, or, in the last resort, even jazz, cross words, or bridge, it is something besides your business. Anybody can do two jobs better than one—especially if he makes his living at one of them and spends it on the other.

Await French Action On Arms Parley

DISCUSSION IN PARIS IS HELD TO BE PROMISING

Ambassador Herrick Takes Up Limitation Proposals With Premier Herriot

MAY WITHHOLD REPLY PENDING LEAGUE MEET

French Government Still Continues Silence On Actual Participation

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 19.—President Coolidge will issue invitations for the second Washington arms conference as soon as support of the French government is assured, Great Britain and Japan having already given informal expression of approval.

Although France blocked limitation of auxiliary naval craft at the first Washington conference, which is the primary object of the proposed conference, informal discussions now in progress between Ambassador Herrick and Premier Herriot in Paris gave hope in official circles here today.

France may withhold a definite affirmative answer, it is believed, until the League of Nations arms conference, which is sponsored, is indefinitely postponed. This probably will be done at the coming league council meeting. The British will ask that discussion be put off until the September meeting of the league assembly.

Since the league protocol provides for an arms conference only if the powers have ratified the protocol before June and as France is the only power that has ratified, it is understood here that no European conference will stand in the way of the Washington meeting.

Germany may not be invited to the Washington conference because she is not a sea power. An allied reason is the reported hostility of France to the inclusion of Germany.

Russia will not be invited unless the conference agenda is extended to include far eastern problems unless Russia meanwhile has been recognized by the United States.

FRENCH GOVERNMENT CONTINUES SILENCE
PARIS, Feb. 19.—With British opposition to the Geneva protocol still a vivid memory, the French government continues silent in the face of repeated reports of a contemplated new disarmament conference.

Political leaders have made no attempt to conceal the disillusionment occasioned by the British stand and ask how sea and land forces can be reduced when from the nation's ex-ally guarantee against a new invasion has been refused.

Premier Herriot's recent plain spoken speech in the chamber of deputies showed clearly he regards security as a vital problem. This view is widely held. While willing to make slight concessions, such as reduction of military service to one year, cutting down the size of the army to 300,000 men, is considered, there is little hope of further disarmament unless a security pact is signed.

Mother Seeks to Regain Children Held Kidnapped

Bernardino Aperio and his three children were being frantically sought today by Cecilia Raya, of Placentia, mother of the children, who has enlisted the authorities to aid her. The woman swore to a kidnapping charge against Aperio today. Aperio, she said, is father of the children, having lived with the Raya woman since leaving his wife, in La Habra, some years ago. Recently they separated. Aperio has been in the habit of visiting the children and yesterday he came to their home in Placentia and took them with him on the pretext of giving them an automobile ride. They never returned and the mother fears that Aperio had fled with them into Mexico.

San Bernardino Orange Show Opens Tonight

SAN BERNARDINO, Feb. 19.—San Bernardino will be host to thousands of visitors tonight on the occasion of California's fifteenth annual National Orange show. Gov. Friend W. Richardson, for the third successive year, will officially dedicate the opening ceremonies tonight. The California Citrus Growers' convention will be held in conjunction with the exposition.

FREE RANCHER DEFENDANT IN PERJURY CASE

Aquittal of William Duncan, Tustin rancher charged with perjury, came late yesterday in Superior Judge Z. B. West's court at the close of Duncan's trial. The rancher greeted the jury's verdict with a show of emotion that revealed the strain he had been under.

Duncan had been accused of giving false testimony at the trial of a civil suit brought against him by two local attorneys, James L. Allen and James L. Davis, to collect a fee.

Yesterday's decision left a curious conflict of verdicts. Duncan's testimony at the civil trial related to an agreement the attorneys alleged he had made with them. He denied such an agreement. The jury gave judgment for the attorneys.

Yesterday, the jury decided that in denying the agreement, Duncan had not committed perjury, thus inferentially questioning the verdict of the other jury.

ALIBI WITNESSES DEFEND KEARNS

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19.—Alibi witnesses took the stand in defense of Jack Kearns today and testified the fight manager was elsewhere at the time he is alleged to have attacked Mrs. Mary C. Tenney, Hollywood actress.

Mrs. Tenney is suing Kearns for $200,000 damages.

Teddy Hayes, Kearns' secretary and trainer for Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, said he was with Kearns at his hotel room on the night of May 3, when the assault is alleged to have occurred.

Joseph Saunders, real estate promoter, also testified he was with Kearns on the night of the asserted attack.

"I was with Kearns from 8 p. m. that night until 3 a. m. the following morning," Saunders said.

Film Magnate's Home Is Looted of Valuable Gems

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19.—Los Angeles and Hollywood police combined today in search for two "society bandits" who broke into the home of E. M. Asher, president of Corinne Griffith productions, and robbed the producer's wife of jewelry valued at $12,000.

Mrs. Asher told police the bandits took three diamond bracelets, a string of pearls and a diamond ring. They were well-dressed and polite in their methods, she said, allowing her to keep her wedding ring.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19.—C. S. Stone, aged step-father of Jack Hoxie, screen actor, was probably fatally injured today in a prisoners' riot at the county jail here.

Stone has been held for investigation in connection with the murders of May and Nina Martin, 8 and 12 year old sisters, whose mutilated bodies were discovered in an abandoned field on the outskirts of Los Angeles three weeks ago.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN APPEARS IN COURT TO DEFEND HIS HAT, CANE, PANTS, BIG SHOES

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19.—Charlie Chaplin took the witness stand in a crowded courtroom today and told how he became the world's foremost screen comedian. Chaplin is suing for an injunction to restrain Charles Amador, alias Charles Aplin, from using his little black moustache, baggy pants and leaky shoes as stage property. Chaplin was asked under cross-examination whether he had copied any of the details of his "creation" from other actors. He admitted he had probably "seen them before" on other actors, but insisted his "character creation" was his own. "I never saw the outfit as a whole before 1913 when I created it," he said.

He told of drawing the "character" from life. "I got the walk from an old cab-driver—the slide I take at street corners just comes natural—it's my own creation. The character I have portrayed in the films is a symbol—a satire on humanity."

Impeachment of Okla. Governor Topic of Rumors

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 19.—Impeachment rumors swept through the capital today following the filing of a petition in the state legislature for an investigation of alleged "corruption in office" by Governor M. E. Trapp.

Governor Trapp, who succeeded former Governor Jack Walton when the latter was ousted from office following a stormy term in the state house, is alleged to have diverted $30,000 to pay for a state highway which had been rejected by federal engineers.

Love Note Left By Student Who Takes Own Life

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Somewhere in the student body of Northwestern University here authorities today hoped to find a co-ed and a young man who they believe can throw some light on the death of John Minahan Jr., suicide at Milwaukee as a climax to disappointment in love.

In young Minahan's possession was found the following note: "I might as well tell you now as later that everything is over as far as you and I are concerned. I do not love you and never did. Buddy Hills and I will be married by the time you receive this, so there is nothing you can do. Goodbye, Louise."

'I Love You, California'

Say It With Service and A Few Pennies

Commencing tomorrow, in this position from time to time, The Register will print something about the conditions and resources, attractions and advantages of California and of Orange county and of Santa Ana.

These articles will correct wrong impressions and give accurate information; and they will be printed mainly for the purpose of providing our readers a ready means of broadcasting such corrections and information throughout the country; but we hope and believe they will also do much in the way of informing our own people.

These articles may be clipped and mailed in letters, but a better way of sending them out would be to mark the paper and mail it; for the paper itself—its news and advertising columns—is the best possible advertisement of the best possible California and of the biggest and best of Santa Ana and Orange county. The Register is not seeking any patronage or profit in this matter—it is merely offering its services and goods free to all who love Santa Ana and Orange county and California well enough to give a moment's time and a few pennies to our community welfare.

CAPITAL TO BE CENTER OF CONTROL

Federal Directors to Have No Authority Except on Liquor Permits

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—A change in federal prohibition enforcement policy, providing complete centralization in Washington, was announced by federal prohibition commissioner Haynes today. Henceforth state prohibition directors will have no responsibilities for enforcement except in connection with liquor permits. Headquarters here will assume full control of active enforcement work.

The change was ordered following experiments in New York, Pennsylvania and California, which were selected because of their reputations as "booze centers."

TREASURER OF ANAHEIM MADE SUIT DEFENDANT

A suit for $14,000 and a restraining order was on file today in the superior court against Chas. A. Boege, Anaheim city treasurer, Hugh Grant and Adelphi Thomas, Anaheim banker and brother-in-law of Boege. The case was transferred from Los Angeles county superior court, where a temporary restraining order has already been granted.

F. S. Bricker, the plaintiff, brought the action on behalf of himself and other "dissatisfied stockholders" of the Bolsa Chica Petroleum corporation, to enforce an alleged agreement made with the defendants as part of a deal to smooth out affairs of the company.

According to Bricker's complaint, Boege and Grant agreed to purchase the "dissatisfied" stock, amounting to 20,750 shares, for $20,750. Boege posted a $22,000 note of the company as security for performance of the contract. It was agreed, Bricker said, that this note and other notes of the company held by Boege, would not be foreclosed until the stockholders were paid for their stock.

Now, according to Bricker, with $14,000 not yet paid, Boege has attempted to refuse to affirm or retract. It was agreed, Bricker said, that this note and other notes of the company held by Boege, would not be foreclosed until the stockholders were paid for their stock.

W. Davis, a laborer, was thrown from the car when it lurched suddenly while crossing the trestle. He was hurled under the trucks derailed the car and throwing it into the canyon. Davis' death is the forty-second on the project since 1920. Names of the men injured were not given in the message to the city engineer's office.

Love Letters of Dead Man Read at Death Inquest

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Endearing letters written by William D. Shepherd, foster father of William M. McCintock, "millionaire orphan," to a pretty young nurse were introduced today at the coroner's inquest into young McCintock's death.

The letters, brought to the coroner by Chief Justice Harry Olson of the municipal court, were offered in an attempt to show Shepherd's relation to the young woman as a possible motive should it be found that McCintock met an unnatural death.

"Precious Sunshine," the letters (four in number)—started. "You are the dearest and sweetest girl in all the world," one of the letters declared. "You put new life into me when I am with you. I cannot do without you. I need you. I love you more than life itself."

"Sometimes I want to kidnap you and carry you away where I'll have you as my very own."

Miss Swanson developed an internal trouble following a fall from a horse during the filming of a picture here and this was complicated by an attack of peritonitis which necessitated the operation.

SEC. WEEKS SUMMONED TO EXPLAIN HIS STAND

Aircraft Investigating Committee Doubts His Plane Claims

COOLIDGE FAILS TO CALL AIR CHIEF

Expected Dismissal From Flying Branch Does Not Materialize

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Secretary of War Weeks is unable to appear personally before the House aircraft committee to explain a war department release asserting that 1,200 airplanes are available for national defense. It was learned at the war department today.

Weeks has not yet received the subpoena of the committee. A series of hearings on the Chicago drainage canal case is expected to continue throughout next week and will prevent the secretary from appearing before the committee, it was said.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Brigadier General William Mitchell, assistant chief of the air service, told the House aircraft investigating committee that he has not been summoned to the White House by President Coolidge as reported.

Thereupon Representative Perkins, New Jersey, Republican, chairman of the investigating committee, assumed full responsibility for circulation of the report that Mitchell had been called to the White House to be offered the choice of resignation or demotion, declaring he had been given the information by "an authority that always has been good."

Perkins said he did not doubt the authenticity of the information and therefore gave it to the press.

White House Is Silent
The White House today continued to refuse to affirm or deny that it summons to Mitchell had been issued or was contemplated.

Mitchell, while on the stand, revealed that General Patrick, chief of air service, had recommended his reappointment as assistant chief after March 25.

The committee decided to subpoena Secretary of War Weeks after examining a press release given out at the war department yesterday stating that the United States had 1,200 serviceable planes, "to ask him whether he plans to use them."

Claim "Misrepresentation"
Perkins asked each member of the committee if he did not believe the Weeks' statement to be a "misrepresentation." Each member agreed it so appeared and the committee voted to subpoena Weeks.

Mitchell will continue on the stand this afternoon, the committee's action in holding him being taken as an indication it was going to do everything possible to prevent his going to the White House.

Weeks Hurries to Coolidge
Secretary of War Weeks went to the White House immediately after the committee voted to subpoena him and spent some time with President Coolidge.

Representative La Guardia, Progressive New York, and former World War aviator, announced that he would introduce today a resolution preventing officers of the army and navy from being demoted for testimony before congressional committees.

La Guardia said he would introduce the resolution in view of reports that Mitchell was to be deprived of his rank.

Would Prevent Demotion
Representative Reed, Illinois, Republican, urged the committee to adopt a resolution opposing demotion of Mitchell, because of the opposition to high army and navy officials.

"It is no use," said Representative Pratt, New York, Republican, "if he is to have his head cut off we can't stop it."

The resolution was tabled. Reed said, "We will never get an army or navy officer to give us his honest views."

NAVAL DEFENSE TO DEPEND ON SHIPS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The American navy will continue to rely on the steel armor and huge guns of its giant battleships as the basic element in the nation's sea defense with aircraft purely auxiliary.

This fundamental naval policy was accepted by President Coolidge today when he approved the special report of the navy general board on the relative combat values of battleships, aircraft and submarines.

COUNTY REPRESENTATIVES ENDORSE PLAN FOR FLOOD CONTROL OF WATERSHEDS

Resolutions approving a bill now before the state legislature, appropriating $50,000 for making a survey of the Santa Ana river water sheds with a view to flood control, and further urging that this measure be enacted into law, were adopted last night at a meeting of representative citizens of the county held in the hall of records.

Approval was also voiced of the action taken by the county board of supervisors in employing a high grade engineer for the purpose of making a survey of the water situation in the county.

J. B. Eaton, a prominent rancher of Anaheim, for a number of years identified with water development and conservation, presided over the meeting, which was attended by several attorneys, engineers, county officials, representatives of water companies and several ranchers.

Long Beach After Water
Arousing considerable interest was a statement by one of the speakers that the city of Long Beach has already completed the purchase, or is negotiating the purchase of water bearing lands in Orange county, located on the top of the coastal basin fed by the Santa Ana river. In this connection, it was recommended that the proper authorities give this matter their immediate attention and resist the proposed acquisition. The operation of a city pumping plant on Orange county lands, feeding a heavy flow of water to Long Beach, would act as a drain on the already overtaxed water deposits in the coastal subterranean reservoir, it was declared.

It was also suggested that in event that the city of Long Beach had directly or indirectly acquired water rights in Orange county, and intended to use same for city purposes, that municipality should be called upon to bear its share in the development and operation of the county's water resources.

Suggests Impounding Dam
In explaining the purpose of the meeting, the chairman stated that no set program had been prepared and that before any steps were taken to that end, it would be well to ascertain the general sentiment in the county as to the best method of effecting conservation of flood water.

C. R. Browning, engineer, suggested the location of an impounding dam at Scully point on Santa Ana river, and at a point close to Riverside. He also recommended that a committee be appointed to investigate and report upon the feasibility of such a project.

Opposition to going ahead with any definite program until the legislature has had time to act upon the Hartranft survey bill, and until the findings and recommendations of the county water survey have been submitted to the supervisors, were voiced by several speakers, including Attorney H. C. Head of Santa Ana; H. H. Hale of Placentia, and John Dunstan, Tustin banker and business man.

Outlines Conservation Plan
Colonel S. H. Finley, member of the county board of supervisors, told the audience of arrangements made with San Bernardino and Riverside counties for the conservation and flood control of the Santa Ana river.

Discussing the Colorado river Boulder dam project, he said that the preliminary work on the part of Southern California municipalities looking toward favorable federal legislation is well under way.

He made it plain, however, that the project is dependent upon the construction of the Boulder dam, without which there would not be enough water in the river to feed the proposed aqueduct to Southern California points. He also called attention to the fact that water taken from the Colorado river could be for domestic purposes only, and could not be used for irrigation. But with a new supply to take care of domestic consumption, there would be more water in the local water sheds for irrigation purposes, he added.

Gets Impatient
Impatience with the continual delays in bringing about a definite, workable plan that would insure necessary relief and adequate supply in the future, was voiced by Ed Utt, a Tustin rancher.

"Few people realize that with increase in population and with increased acreage under irrigation, we are slowly but surely draining the stored supply of many years' accumulation. At the present rate we shall at no distant time have pumped our last drop of water, and be forced to abandon large tracts of land now under irrigation," he observed.

Many Visit New Parish Rectory

Especially attractive was the great basket of mixed spring blossoms presented by the Altar society whose members assisted Father Santy in receiving. Punch was served all afternoon and evening, and evening guests were entertained by musical numbers by the Lowell trio.

Chamber Drive at Grove Pushed

Nineteen community boosters at Garden Grove today were canvassing that district in a whirlwind finish of a drive for memberships in the Chamber of Commerce. The organization has a membership of 100 and it is hoped to duplicate the number.

Preparations for the drive have been in progress for several days, under direction of S. P. Morris, of the field service department of the Los Angeles chamber of commerce.

The "zero hour" this morning was preceded by a banquet served at the women's club house last night by women of the club.

Charles Bayer, head of the field service of the Los Angeles chamber, was one of the speakers at the meeting, attended by 100 residents of the community.

Everett A. White, of Santa Ana, immediate past president of the California Real Estate association, outlined plans of the West-Northwest Improvement association of Santa Ana, to promote paving of Ocean avenue, main east and west street through Garden Grove, to a connection with North Bristol street, Santa Ana, at a point near the Santa Ana river. I LOST 50 POUNDS in 2 Months

This Easy Way!

In Paris I learned
a secret for which millions have paid thousands. Let me tell
it to you FREE OF CHARGE!

If you are one of many who have tried everything to reduce, without success—if you are suffering from a weak heart, high blood pressure, tired feeling, shortness of breath, all due to obesity, AT LAST YOU CAN BE RELIEVED. If your figure is such that you are embarrassed to appear in public with your husband or your smart-looking friends, you can now entertain new hopes. Perhaps it is your bust, your thighs or your arms that you want to reduce, or may be only one or two rolls of fat have lately appeared? Whatever your case may be, if you want to reduce only certain parts of your body, or if you are 100 pounds too heavy or 100 pounds, you owe it to yourself to investigate this new discovery WHICH DOES AWAY WITH WEAKENING DIETS, ABSURD CREAMS, TIRELESS EXERCISES, REDUCING GARMENTS.

From experience, I know how many worthless things you have tried in the past and in the effort to help you regain slenderness without being again disappointed, I have decided to give out the secret which relieved me of 50 pounds of ugly rolls of fat and made me feel like a new woman. Simply go to any good druggist, ask for a package of SAN-GRINA tablets (remember the name, and do not accept any substitute). SAN-GRINA is the ONLY preparation of a French physician and the ONLY THING I ever found to reduce my weight—my case was an obstinate one, and I had tried everything known to reduce, without success. It is the first time SAN-GRINA is offered to the American public, as up to now it had been used in private practice, where enormous prices have been paid for it. UNTIL YOU TRY IT, YOU CANNOT SAY THAT YOUR FAT CANNOT BE REMOVED. Take 2 small tablets before each meal and watch your fat disappear. Remember that SAN-GRINA is GUARANTEED ABSOLUTELY HARMLESS, AND IS SOLD WITH A MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE. It cannot harm you in any way; on the contrary, the moment you start taking it you will feel yourself filled with pep and energy. On sale at White Cross, Kelley, Parsons, Malters or Hadden-Jean Drug Stores.

AD CLUB WILL BEND EVERY EFFORT TO MAKE SANTA ANA LETTER DAY GREAT SUCCESS

The Santa Ana Advertising Club is leaving no stone unturned to put over "Santa Ana Letter Day" in a big way. The work is being carried on under the direction of R. L. Bisby, president of the club, and D. L. Coover, chairman of the Letter Day committee.

Billboards and slides in local theaters will be two of the publicity methods used during the week preceding March 4 when all letters which have been placed in the Ad Club's letter barrels will be mailed.

Thirty-five billboards have been donated to the cause by Foster and Kleiser, through the efforts of Coover who is the local manager for this concern. With the co-operation of the schools and the local service clubs, thousands of letters selling Santa Ana and boosting the Southland in general will be mailed from here March 4. The Chamber of Commerce is supplying printed matter for enclosure in boosting letters to all those who desire it, and its information bureau will supply data of all kinds bearing on Santa Ana.

ROAD BOOSTERS TO MEET FRIDAY

Organization of the Century Boulevard district, to be created for the purpose of pushing the proposed highway bet when Santa Ana and Los Angeles tracks from the Pacific Electric tracks from Santa Ana to Watts, is expected to be perfected at a meeting to be held at Masonic hall at Bellflower, tomorrow at 8 p. m., it was announced here today by T. E. Pickering, secretary of the Garden Grove chamber of commerce, who has been an active advocate of the highway.

Pickering said that men of Orange county who have been active in the preliminary steps, or men who are interested in the project, were urged to attend the conference at Bellflower. It is expected men from every community along the Pacific Electric, including Watts, will be present to give voice to sentiment regarding the proposition.

Frank Was, Freeman Bloodgood and J. L. McBride represent the Santa Ana chamber of commerce in the activity, and it is expected they will make it a point to attend. A committee of Garden Grove also has been co-operating, the membership being H. A. Lake, Claude Crosby, J. O. Artley, C. H. Henry and Pickering.

Alfred Hansen, is chairman of the general committee from Orange county and is endeavoring to enlist the interest of a large number of county residents in the meeting.

Hugh Pomeroy, secretary of the Los Angeles county regional planning commission, has advised that he will attend or send a representative from his office.

The proposed road from Santa Ana to Watts will be 100 feet wide and it will connect at Watts with One Hundredth street, Los Angeles, and because of these facts, "century" has been adopted as the name for the district.

Congressmen and Cabinet Officers Get Salary Boost

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Without debate or argument, the senate voted a $2500 increase in pay to every congressman and $3000 more to each cabinet officer, the speaker of the house and the vice president. The increase amounts to $1,360,000 a year.

The proposal was adopted as an amendment to the $16,000,000 appropriation for legislative purposes and the appropriation itself was approved. The house must agree to the amendment before the bill is sent to the President. Congressmen now get $7500 a year.

SOCIETY

Attractive Reception Follows Nuptials

Dispensing the lavish hospitality of the "old country", Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas P. Prussing of 329 East Pine street, were hosts at a reception last evening following their wedding, an event of the afternoon at St. Joseph's Catholic church.

Monsignor Henry Eummelen, pastor of the church, officiated at the nuptial ceremony, the bride, Miss Anita Dobes of Brach, Bohemia, being attended by Mrs. Mary J. Newberry as matron of honor and the groom assisted by Fred C. Walsh of Pasadena.

The bride was handsomely gowned in rich brocaded yellow satin with fur trimmings and carried an arm bouquet of yellow jonquills and ferns. She wore a large hat fashioned of gold lace. As the bridal party entered the church, Mrs. Henry Wilson, at the pipe organ, played Lohengrin's march and accompanied the soloists, Miss Elizabeth Easton, who sang an "Ave Maria", and Miss Anna Young, who rendered sweetly, "I Love You Truly".

Mr. and Mrs. Prussing have been friends over a period of fifteen years, the latter being a chum of Mr. Prussing's first wife, who died suddenly in Buffalo, N. Y., two years ago when she and her husband had just returned from a trip to Europe. The bride has been in this country seventeen months, and is the daughter of Mrs. Antonia Dobes, who resides in Brach, Bohemia.

During the reception, which was held from five until eight o'clock last evening, Mr. and Mrs. Prussing delighted their guests with some old German songs. They were showered with hearty congratulations, telegrams and many beautiful gifts, several coming from Chicago, where Mr. Prussing practiced law for many years.

Elaborate refreshments were served the guests, who numbered about fifty, and included Santa Ana friends, neighbors and the following out-of-town friends: Peter E. Prussing, son of the groom and his little daughter, Virginia, Fred Moehler and Martin Kehi of Santa Monica; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Welch, and Mrs. Harriet Smith of Los Angeles. The eldest guest present was Mrs. Margaret Zener, a neighbor, who gave the bride and groom her blessing, before they departed for the church, and who greatly enjoyed the wedding festivities. Mr. and Mrs. Prussing plan a trip to Bohemia later to see Mrs. Prussing's aged mother.

New Plans Laid To Combat Fleet of Rum Vessels

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—Campaign plans against rum runners off the California coast were put into action here today while members of the crew of the liquor ship Coal Harbour, brought into the bay early yesterday, attempted to raise ball.

Spurred on by the Coal Harbour's capture, with a cargo of liquor estimated worth from $500,000 to $1,000,000 or even more, all branches of the government united in an effort to further reduce the rum fleet.

The coast guard cutter Cahokia, which captured the Coal Harbour, reported that a veritable nest of liquor ships was encountered off the bay.

Forensic Teams To Clash Here In Semi-Finals

In the second series of the Southern California junior college debating meets, Santa Ana is to clash with the San Diego State Teachers college teams tomorrow night in simultaneous debates which will determine whether the local college is to enter the finals for the sectional championship.

The Santa Ana affirmative team is to debate here tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Polytechnic high school music auditorium open to the public. Members of affirmative are Miss Martha Featherly and Francis Hartke.

Pros and cons of the much mooted question, "Resolved, that Congress should be given the power by constitutional amendment to set aside by a two-thirds vote of both houses decisions of the Supreme Court declaring national laws unconstitutional" will be argued by the debaters.

HEALTH vs. WEALTH

Today many of us are trying to live up to the Jones-es. The pace is swift. The nights, a trifle short. Dollars dance a jig in our minds. We like their jazzy jingle. The limousine is the hallmark of standing. The largest, the loudest, the fastest, the longest, the greatest take the place of the finest and the loveliest and the truly best.

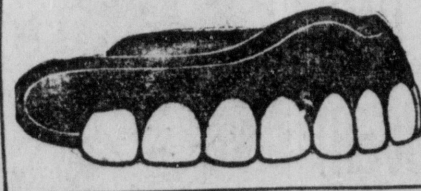

Of course, everything has its price in life. The gatekeeper will take his toll. And our health is one of the first things he pecks away at.

One day—that day—we discover that health and happiness are kin, and that when injured they hesitate to come back.

Steak—Fit for a King

The king enjoyed his steak because he had good teeth to chew it well. Aside from the pleasure in eating good food is the greatest pleasure—that is digesting it. Thoroughly masticated food is much easier to handle. The stomach generally tells you so.

MODERN DENTISTRY

No field of modern science has had a greater awakening than dentistry. To become a dentist now requires a broad study of more than the teeth. For each tooth has a nerve (some of you have already found out about it) and that nerve belongs to the Nerve family. Hurt your tooth nerve and it calls on its brother, the eye nerve (optic) or the ear nerve (auditory) or the nerves that go to the stomach. So in treating teeth every precaution is taken to keep the nerve from being injured.

Then infection is avoided. First class dental offices are as careful of their instruments as surgeons in hospitals. We double sterilize all of ours.

ECONOMY—CONSULTATION, HIGH CLASS WORK

By maintaining a joint office, we reduce our overhead expense, buy material in large quantities at great savings and otherwise save expense. This is passed along to our patients.

When the need arises, all our dentists are called into consultation on cases. In that way we not only avoid possible mistakes but enable you to get broader advice than any one man could give.

Poor dental work has no excuse for existence. The new patients who come to us on advice of friends are gratifying and proves our policy of high class work only—but at material savings.

MANUFACTURE OF BUMPERS IS BEGUN AT LOCAL PLANT

Kaufmann Company Begins Making New Product In First Street Factory

100 BUMPERS PER DAY AIM OF FIRM

Santa Ana Company Plans To Continue Production of Spotlights

Manufacture of an automobile bumper which embodies several unusual features has been started plant at 1623 East First street. Heretofore the company has made at the Chas. Kaufmann & Sons spotlights exclusively.

Charles Kaufmann and one of his sons, Walter, are the inventors of the bumper. They have applied for a patent which they expect will be granted within the next three months.

The Kaufmann bumper is a three-bar and rubber cushioned fair. The bars are of Cambria steel and all fittings and fastenings are of cannon bronze, polished and heavily nickel plated. The rubber cushion serves to absorb the shock. The Kaufmann bumper is said to be the only one on the market which has the rubber cushion feature.

A demonstration of the bumper was held at the plant yesterday. A 4 1/2 x 6 fence post was placed in a hole in a concrete driveway. The bumper smashed the post without in any way damaging the bumper or causing any shock to the car or driver.

The Kaufmann firm expects to be manufacturing at least 100 bumpers per day shortly.

The bumper is being manufactured complete in the local factory. Covering an acre of ground, the Kaufmann plant is considered to be one of the most complete on the coast.

The Kaufmann firm began making spotlights here in a little garage in 1913. Gradually the output was increased until now the product is sent to all parts of the world. A large order was received yesterday from Kuala Lumpur, Selangor, Federated Malay States.

Manufacture of spotlights will continue on the same scale as before, the size of the factory permitting the manufacture of both products in large numbers.

OLIGER URGES PLAYGROUNDS, PARKS FOR S. A.

Chamber Official Believes Community Should Prepare For 80,000 Pop.

By A. L. OLIGER

Secretary Chamber of Commerce. There are a number of things in which the people of Santa Ana should be vitally interested and especially is this true in regards to parks and playgrounds.

The fact that Santa Ana is located within just a few miles of the beaches is not sufficient to justify any action in letting this matter slide along without serious thought. Even though we have a splendid country park, this should not prevent some action being taken to prepare for the future when this section is populated with some 75,000 to 80,000 persons.

It would be a fine thing for Santa Ana, especially the Santa Ana of the future, to have a breathing spot in each of the four sections of the city, and unless action is taken within a short time the delay will prove a costly item to the citizens of this district.

Why is it that other communities not as large as Santa Ana have numerous parks and playgrounds? Wouldn't a public playground or a public swimming pool be a big asset to this city? Plenty of parks and playgrounds would assist materially in making this community an attractive place for home loving people. When substantial people seek a new location the living conditions are among the first things considered and it is a conceded fact that when a city gives proper consideration to the proper physical balance of its community life, that city is one that will attract a high type of citizens.

This is a problem that is not a local problem alone. The community of Orange is also vitally interested in view of this fact an inter-city committee has been appointed to give the matter careful consideration.

Guy J. Gilbert, Potter Bowles and William Iversen represent Santa Ana on this committee and the committee is represented by M. Eltiste, A. W. Swayze and S. V. Mansur.

The committee is calling a meeting for March 9 to discuss this important subject. Everyone interested in the subject will be given an opportunity to be heard on this vital question. It will be a public gathering at a place to be announced within a very few days.

In the meantime the people of this section of Orange county should give the matter serious thought in order that the committee may ascertain at this meeting just what action should be taken.

If you are interested in seeing Santa Ana and Orange develop into an inter-city of contented and healthy people, you are cordially invited to attend this public meeting and help crystallize your thoughts into action.

To Drill 25 Oil Wells Near Newport

Twenty-five wells will be drilled by the Interstate Oil company on its Mesa lease, two miles northwest of Newport Beach, it was announced today at the Los Angeles office.

Finding of a good quality of oil in its No. 1 well on the lease resulted in the decision to drill 24 additional wells, it is announced. The oil flowed from the 700-foot level.

The Interstate company has been re-organized. The firm is credited with discovering the Newport field.

MAIN STREET CORNER SOLD FOR $60,000

Ralph Mosher, local distributor for products of the Ventura Oil company, today had completed negotiations involving one of the most important business property deals consummated here recently.

He has purchased from A. L. Philbrick Second street, the corner of Main and the southwest corner of Main and Second streets, the consideration being $60,000. The property has a frontage of 100 feet on Main and a depth of 125 feet along Second street. The purchase price includes the buildings on the two lots and some of the equipment of the oil station and the vulcanizing plant located on the site.

On the property is a filling station and a two-story building, the upper floor of the building being in apartments. Part of the lower floor is divided into small stores rooms. There is also on the lower floor a large storage garage. Jess Goodman's tire shop and the Pacific Battery Station are also located on the property.

The improvements were made approximately four years ago by Philbrick, who formerly was a building contractor at Pomona. He is now operating as a builder in Long Beach.

Declaring that he had the utmost faith in the future of Santa Ana, Mosher said that he bought the property as an investment.

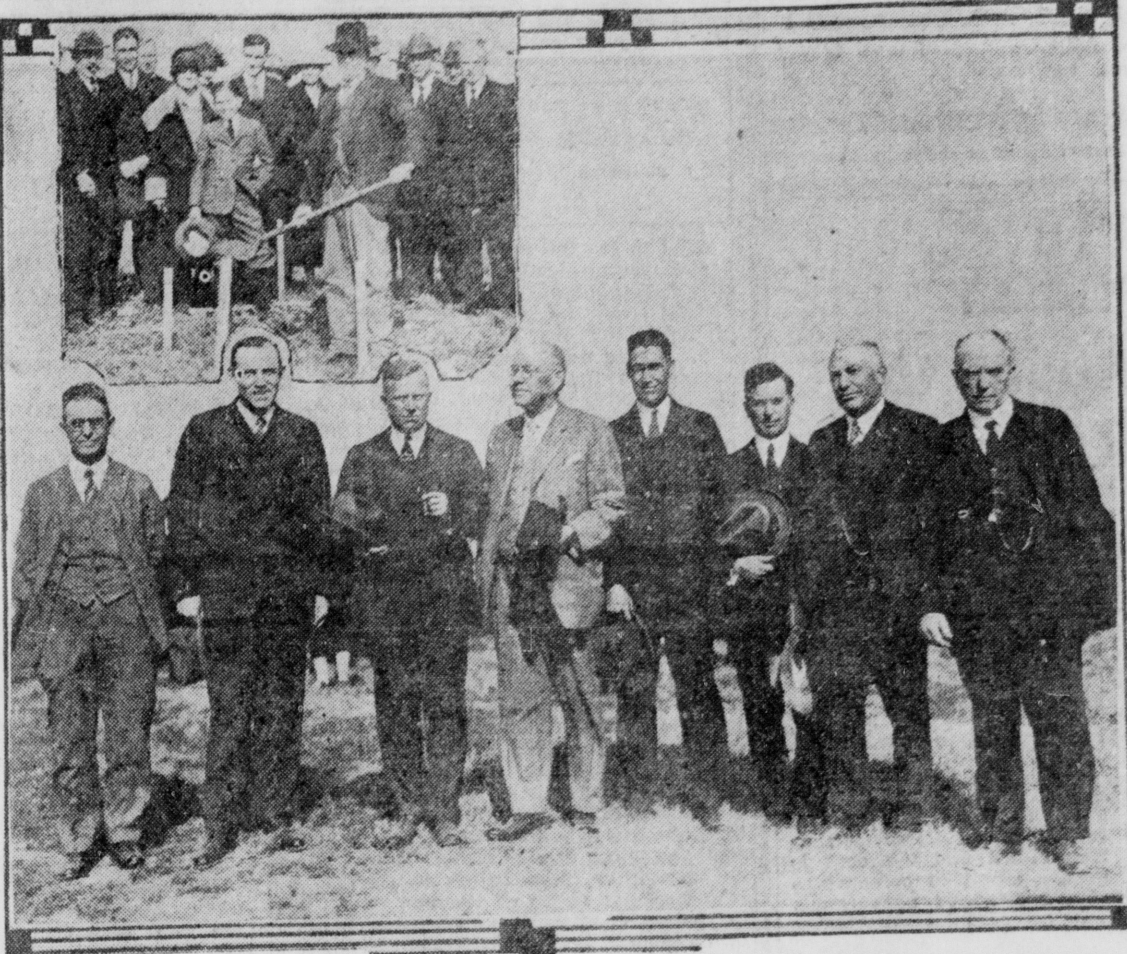

"Santa Ana is a coming big city and the property I have bought is in the center of future business development," Mosher said.

Store Employees Are Entertained

VENDOR FIRM BEGINS WORK ON CONCRETE BUILDING HERE

Chewing Gum, Candies and Slot Machines Will Be Made In Santa Ana

GROUND BREAKING EXERCISES HELD

$50,000 Will Be Spent By Company In Erection of Three Story Structure

The Vendor Distributing Company, a $250,000 firm, started work today on a $50,000 three-story building on its five-acre site in the Central Industrial district.

Slot machines, chewing gum, small candies and other delicacies will be manufactured in the plant, which will employ 100 persons, mostly women, and will have a payroll of from $500 to $2000 per week. It is believed that the factory will be in operation within 90 days.

Ground breaking exercises were held yesterday with officers and stockholders of the Vendor company and the Unique Vending company present. The Unique Vending firm is under contract to buy all the output of the Vendor organization.

The spade of earth was turned by M. N. Fuller, 87 years of age, of 636 Birch street, who is a stockholder in the company. G. W. McEwan, president of the Unique, also spoke, as did several other officers of the two companies.

The structure will be of reinforced concrete and steel construction and will occupy ground space 60x120 feet. Construction activities will be under the direction of J. Braunwalder, Los Angeles engineer. Santa Ana help and materials will be used so far as possible in the building of the plant.

Plans have already been drawn for two other units and the company hopes to construct them within a year.

It is declared that the climate here is ideal for the manufacture of gum.

A plant in Berkeley has heretofore supplied the company with gum. The machinery in the Berkeley plant, together with machinery recently purchased in the east, will begin arriving in Santa Ana within a short time for installation here. The apparatus represents an investment of approximately $25,000. Together with the land and the building, the Vendor company will make an investment of $100,000 in Santa Ana.

Officers of the Vendor company are: President, C. L. DeWalt, Santa Monica; vice president, N. J. Matthews, Los Angeles; secretary, G. A. McElroy, Los Angeles; treasurer, B. F. Logan, Glendale.

The initial weekly output of the plant will be 500 penny slot machines and 100 cases of chewing gum and candies.

"The Vendor Distributing Company is an organization working hand in hand with the Unique Vending Company," declared E. L. Flanagan, a director of the Vendor company, and assistant treasurer of the Unique, today. "All of

LOT OWNERS TO CONSTRUCT FOUR HOUSES

Owners of four lots at Harwood and Elm streets, purchased recently from Stanley Clem, salesman of the Santa Ana Lumber company, will start construction work on dwellings there Monday morning. Those who will build are: H. L. Budlong and R. R. Petersen, Clausen Furniture company; William Robertson, 1250 Coronado avenue, Long Beach; John M. Tit, 322 West Pine street, and Dick Rogers, 211 East Tenth street. The four dwellings will average $4,000 in price.

Eleven houses have been erected in the tract since Clem placed it on the market a few months ago. The property consists of four acres.

According to Clem, conditions in Santa Ana are steadily improving. Indications are that 1925 will prove one of the biggest years in the history of the city, he says.

Improvement OF BUILDING STARTED

R. B. Newcom, proprietor of the feed store at 420 North Sycamore street, today had started improvement work on his building at the northwest corner of Broadway and Fifth streets.

It is estimated the improvements will cost $4000 to $5000 and will consist of the construction of a basement 60x25 and the building of a new floor of concrete, and the running of a partition dividing the floor space into two business rooms, one with an L leading to Fifth street.

While not yet definitely decided, it is possible Newcom later will move his business enterprise to this location.

Fullerton Men Will Make Tour of County Port

Members of the Fullerton Realty Board in the near future will make a complete study of Orange county harbor, it became known today, with the announcement by Hugh Miller, president of the board, that the organization has accepted an invitation to the harbor in the immediate future.

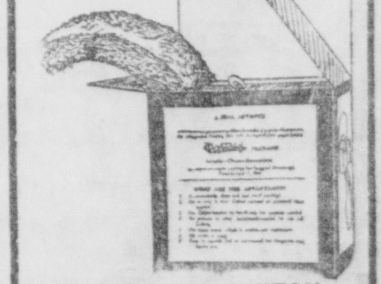

"In my opinion, the members, including myself, could stand a great deal of enlightenment on the harbor, further improvement of which I believe would be Orange county's greatest step forward," the board president said.

"In his declaration that completion of the harbor project would be one of the greatest advance steps Orange county could take, Miller confirms opinions that are coming from all sections of the county," Harry Welch, secretary of the Orange County Harbor chamber of commerce, said today.

"The enthusiastic meeting at Brea a few evenings ago is only another of the many similar evidences of the keen interest all sections of our great country are taking in development features which will make Orange county still more firmly founded."

WEST FOURTH STREET BUILDING FINISHED

Above is the two room stucco structure which Edward W. Cochems of Santa Ana erected at the southwest corner of Fourth and Artesia streets. Both rooms have been leased.

BUILDERS' QUERIES ANSWERED

By Southern California Chapter, Associated General Contractors of America.

Q. Can you tell me which is the best finish on plaster board for inside finish, paint or calcimine? Should sizing be used before applying finish?

A. Either paint or calcimine is satisfactory for interior finish on plaster board, we are advised by the manufacturers. Gelatine glue used in the proportion of one pound of glue to one and one-half gallons of hot water, should be used as sizing. Sizing should be applied like warm, using an ordinary calcimine brush.

Q. One of my tenants claims that he can remove anything out of my house that is attached with screws. Is that correct?

A. Whether the tenant could remove anything from the house would first depend upon whether it was a permanent fixture or some article he had placed there. The California code, section 660, pertaining to fixtures says in part:

"A thing is deemed to be affixed to land when it is attached to it by roots, as in the case of trees, vines or shrubs; or imbedded in it, as in the case of walls; or permanently resting upon it, as in the case of buildings; or permanently attached to what is thus permanent, as by means of cement, plaster, nails, bolts or screws."

Q. Should I go to the expense of employing an architect to prepare plans for a six room house, or select a plan submitted by the contractor?

A. While the plan submitted by the contractor may be satisfactory to you, we believe it is your best interests if you would employ an architect to prepare plans just as you want them, and write the specifications. You could then submit your plans and specifications to several contractors, who would be figuring on the same basis, and therefore you would get a competitive bid really worth while. It will be more satisfactory in the end if handled this way.

Q. I bought a place last week for $5000. I paid $1000 down and have promised to pay the balance in monthly installments of $60 on the first of each month. The monthly payment will include interest at the rate of 7 per cent per annum. How long will it take me to pay for the place?

A. It will take you nine years and two days to pay for this place at the rate of $60 per month, interest included in the payments.

Q. Can you tell me the approximate cost of a California house, based on the square foot?

A. The cost of a California house will be based upon the class of material you desire to put in the house. If you use the best material this type house can be constructed for about $3 per square foot.

Q. What will be the cost of enclosing a six-foot bath tub in wood-stone or like substance?

A. If woodstone is used the cost will be approximately $15.

Q. Can you advise me where I may secure information regarding the cost of constructing homes, based on the floor area or cubic space in a building?

A. The Southern California chapter, Associated Contractors of America, has prepared a statement which will enable you to arrive at the approximate cost of buildings, based on the floor area. A copy will be mailed upon request.

Q. What should be the width of sheathing and how should it be placed for a two-story stucco house?

A. Sheathing should not be less than six inches nor more than eight inches wide, dressed on one or both sides to a uniform thickness of thirteen-sixteenths of an inch and nailed on horizontally with eight penny nails.

Q. What is the best material to use as a mud sill?

A. Redwood is probably the best timber for a mud sill. Most of the incorporated towns require that mud sill be of redwood.

Baby Boy Born To Film Couple Secretly Wedded

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 19.—Lou Tellegen and his "bride of mystery," formerly Isabel Craven Dillworth, of Philadelphia, are the parents of an eight-months-old son. It was revealed today following the sensational disclosure of a secret marriage in New Jersey more than a year ago.

Mrs. Tellegen, known to the stage as Nina Romano, not only confirmed her wedding to the "perfect lover" but proudly exhibited to Hollywood friends today a son, Rexford, born eight months ago in Florida.

"Lou is more than a perfect lover—he is a perfect father," Mrs. Tellegen said. "We have kept our domestic life a secret for professional reasons, and have been living in separate homes."

"But now that the world knows of our romance, we are going to establish a new home here in Hollywood."

"I would prefer to continue my work on the stage, but with our home and baby to look after, I expect now to work in motion pictures and remain in Hollywood."

Johnson Denies He Is Solon Holdout

RENO, Nev., Feb. 19.—Walter Johnson, Washington pitching ace, denied today that he is a "holdout" or that there is any haggling over terms which has prevented him signing his 1925 contract.

"I've hated to leave off hunting until I really shoot something, but I'll probably leave for Hot Springs, Ark., within two or three days whether I can get the bear I'm after or not," he said.

Are You Troubled With Unsightly Hair?

HERE'S A HELPFUL SECRET

No need now to undergo painful electric treatment to remove superfluous hair, nor to apply ordinary ineffective hair removers which only remove surface hairs.

A marvelous new Oriental balsam has been discovered which is applied almost as easily as cold cream. It penetrates towards the hair roots and gently "eases out" every objectionable hair, root and all, and leaves the skin clear, white, healthy and soft as velvet. No more. No odor. No growing back of hair stronger than ever. Absolutely harmless. Karma, as this wonderful new discovery is called, is highly recommended by prominent beauty specialists, and is sold on an absolute guarantee of satisfaction by all good dealers such as: Glens & Cannon Pharmacy, Haddon-Jean Drug Co., Parsons Drug Store, White Cross Drug Co.

Hoppe Takes Lead Over Bob Cannefax

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Willie Hoppe, balking billiard champion, gained another 12 points lead on Bob Cannefax, world three cushion title holder, when he won the seventh block of their match here this afternoon by a score of 60 to 48. The score at the end of the block was 420 to 400. The players made a high run of five.

Snake Skin Shoes

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 19.—Snake skin shoes in all shades and colors are the latest fad here. The custom, however, is quite primitive, as the natives on Cape Barren Island, who preserve in diluted form the blood of now extinct aborigines of Tasmania, often wear footwear made from snake skins.

IT IS NOT ALWAYS A CHERRY TREE.....

And the destroyer is not always as honest about it as George Washington was when he cut down the Cherry Tree.

In the name of economy many are cutting and destroying, by using inferior paints and varnishes. Oftentimes cheap paint places the building it is used on in such a condition that it is unfit for re-painting even with good paints.

Cheap paints do not spread as far, cover as well, nor last as long as Patton's Sun Proof Paints.

S. A. COLLEGE BASEBALL MEN BEGIN SEASON

Many Veterans Report For Practice So Warren Has High Hopes For Title

Coach Leroy ("Boss") Warren believes he has a potential Southern California J. C. conference championship baseball team at his disposal at the Santa Ana Junior college.

From last year's team which played in the finals for the Southern California title and lost only to Riverside, there are five veterans returning. With these players and a flock of other candidates every promise is held out for the local nine to romp to the junior college championship this year.

Early practice has brought out a number of players who have been mauling the pill around the Poly grounds for the past week. Coach Warren yesterday issued his first call for candidates and laid down the initial training rule bookcases.

Fourteen Players Report
A total of 14 men are already enrolled and more are expected. The players returning from last year's teams are Abe Johnson, "Crip" Marston, Leland Clark, Virgil Dunkin, and Walter Righter. Others who are going out for the team are Jim Endaly, "Bibby" Eber, Hollis Fitts, Francis Hartke, Lawrence Mills, Al Claves, Emerson Bizz, Kenneth Schroll and "Barney" Thoele.

Most of the new recruits have had high school baseball experience. This will enable Warren to rapidly round his squad into shape. The college team should have a strong pitching staff with Johnson and Marstone available.

Righter Behind Log
Righter, a veteran, appears to have clear sailing for catcher's position. Dunkin played at first base on last year's nine and "Red" Clark held down the second sacker.

After the organization of the team, Coach "Boss" Warren expects to engage with the team of the county high schools and the Santa Ana high school in practice encounters during the last of March.

League games do not begin until the first week of April with the encounter against El Centro Junior college. Other colleges to be met include Riverside, Fullerton, San Diego, Citrus, Pomona, and Pasadena.

YDE OF PITTSBURGH
Emil Yde, Pittsburgh's stellar southpaw hurler, didn't lose a game to Chicago, Boston or Philadelphia last season. The Giants were the only team he failed to beat.

Billy Evans Says

SHORTSTOP'S VALUE

The value of a star shortstop to a ball club was never better demonstrated than in the World series. The injury that put Roger Peckinpaugh out of the running almost cost Washington its chances for the pennant.

While Bluege, who shifted from third to short, filled in very acceptably at Peck's position, it made a hole in the infield that just couldn't be plugged.

If Washington, world champs, can stay in the running this year, it means a big season financially. In figuring Washington's chances the case of Peckinpaugh must receive serious consideration.

Will the leg injury that kept Peck out of several world series games, including the all-important final one, handicap his play the coming season?

PECKINPAUGH CASE
I met Peckinpaugh on the streets of Cleveland the other day and had a long talk with him.

"How about the leg?" I asked. "Feels just as good as ever," he replied, "but of course I won't know how good it is until I put it to the big test."

"I have done much walking this winter, also a lot of skating. Incidentally, I have done some indoor running. So far it hasn't bothered me in the slightest."

"I have given the leg a good rest and every attention. Have taken only enough exercise to keep feeling well."

"However, it's the sudden starts and stops that play havoc with a leg injury such as I suffered and not until I start regular play will I know just how strong it is."

The rumors is going rounds that there is a holdout club among the veterans of the Washington team. The fact that only a few of the stars have signed is the cause.

STILL UNSIGNED
I asked Peckinpaugh about it. "I don't know a thing about the so-called holdout club among the Washington players," he replied.

"All I have to say on the subject is that as yet I have not signed. However, that is a personal matter between myself and the club."

"The difference in salary is not so great but that I expect to agree on terms before the start of the spring training trip."

"I had a good season last year. The club won the world championship. I may not have many years left in my system and naturally I am trying to get the money while the going is good."

HEMET MAY BE NEXT FOE FOR POLY MIDGETS

First Game In Semi-Finals To Be Played Saturday; S. A. Five Is Confident

Hemet high school's paperweight team, champions of Riverside county, probably will be the first opponent for Santa Ana high school's Class C (110-pound) basketball quintette in the semi-finals for the Southern California championship, it was learned here today.

Ed Covington, coach of Poly's triumphant midgets, announced he had begun negotiations with the Hemet squad and that the game probably would be played Saturday night at Riverside high school. C. I. P. regulations call for all championship play-off contests to be decided on neutral grounds.

The Poly midgets won another game at Anaheim yesterday, beating by a score of 1 to 20 the Anaheim high school Class B (130-pounders). Covington's Class C reserves also took into camp the Anaheim Class B second stringers.

The entire Poly squad is in good condition and confident of playing through to its second successive Southland crown. The locals should defeat Hemet without much difficulty. Then they probably will get another shot at the crack Excelsior (Norwalk) quintette, the only team that has defeated them this year.

Covington said he would start his usual team against Hemet. This will put Lauren Walbridge and Merle Youel at forwards, Ray Smith at center, and Captain Willard White and Odis Goodman at guards.

24 Poly Track Captain Enrolls At S. A. College

Strengthening the already powerful Santa Ana junior college track squad, Lloyd Morris, captain and star all-around athlete of the Santa Ana high school scanty-clad team last year, today was enrolled at the local junior college. He transferred from the Oregon Agricultural college.

Morris can run most of the events of track and he puts the shot well over 40 feet besides doing the high jump, hurdles, dashes and weight events with point winning ability.

In the meets in which Santa Ana participated last year, Morris was consistently high point man for the local high school.

SHORT SPORTS
PHILADELPHIA.—Connie Mack claimed a season's record when he announced that all of the Philadelphia Athletics have signed their contracts. He is the first major league manager to get all his athletes on paper.

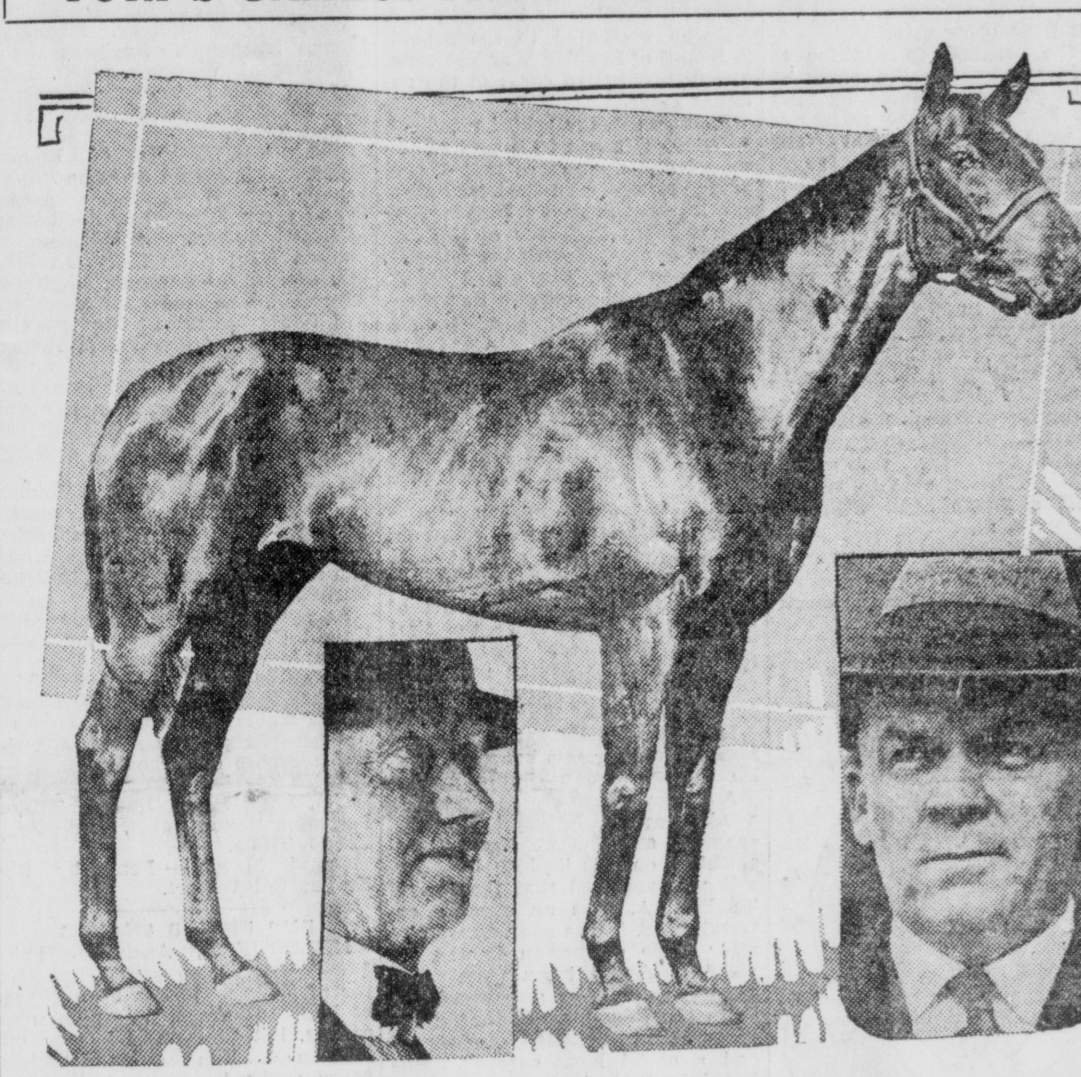

PALM BEACH, Fla.—Gene Sarazen and Leo Diegel lost a $10,000 purse to Mike Brady and Tommy Armour, Miami professionals when the latter pair won a 72-hole match two up.

CHICAGO.—Wayne Munn, giant Nebraska wrestler, vanquished Mike Romano in a five bout last night, winning two straight falls, 6:03 and 47 seconds. The champion handled Romano like a football dummy, using his crotch and half nelson hold invariably.

EVANSTON, Ind.—Andy Toolen, crack University of Southern California football player in 1920-1921, died of typhoid fever here late yesterday. Toolen, who married last year, was practicing law.

STILL IN RING
The Veteran Ted "Kid" Lewis, one time world's welterweight champion, has not yet forsaken the ring. Lewis despite the fact that he has seen many years of active service in the game, is still taking them on over in the old country.

Close Decision Costs Seven Runs and Results in Battle of Choice Repartee

BY BILLY EVANS

Dick Hallin has the side runless, while the call of ball sent the runner to first.

Before the inning was over Boston had made seven runs, and as it later proved, just enough to win the game by a one-run margin.

Coming in from center field, Speaker denounced by way of the plate to tell Nallin what he thought about the call of ball on what he contended was a perfect strike.

Nallin listened intently and when Speaker appeared to have worn out his vocabulary, the umpire replied: "Fine job this umpiring business. You accuse me of being responsible for seven runs and abuse me."

"What I deserve is praise, not criticism. There isn't a man on either club could do that well in one inning on one ball. You better sign me."

Speaker threw up his hands in disgust and quit.

TUSTIN QUINTET IN LAST TITLE CHANCE

Coach Earl Murray's Tustin high school basketball team makes its "Custer's Stand" in the Orange County league race tomorrow afternoon when on its home court it takes on the undefeated Anaheim five in the final game of the year—if Anaheim wins.

Should Murray's charges upset the dope bucket, they will throw the league into a triple tie for first place between Tustin, Orange and Anaheim. The Mother Colonists, however, are strong favorites in view of their defeat of Orange, a team that decisively conquered Tustin.

Tustin will lineup as follows: Jack Crawford and Yegorio Jimenez, forwards; Clarence Watkins, center, and Frank Labrucherie and Foster Prather, guards. Leo West, center, is ill and will be unable to play. The game will begin at 3 o'clock.

The gamest and most consistent filly on the American turf.

That's the record claimed by H. L. Crain, owner, and R. L. Rogers, trainer of Miss Meise, the four-year-old filly by Ormondale-Margaret Meise, back in New Orleans for her second winter.

Often owners and trainers become enthused over the performance of thoroughbreds in their stables when they beat a field above the ordinary, but Messrs. Crain and Rogers have more than one or two races on which to substantiate their statements.

Cold figures don't lie and race horse followers who like to dig into the old "dope" book will find the following facts:

Miss Meise has not been out of the money once in her last 25 starts.

Thirteen times the game little racer has led her fields to the wire.

Ten times she has finished second.

Three times only has she finished a third.

A remarkable feature about the filly is the fact that she has gone on since her first victory of her long streak since Oct. 19, 1923, without being laid up, racing summer and winter with no change at all in her form.

"I know of many cases of 'iron horses' making a great record for one season but at the end of the year retiring, but I can't recall such a record for consistency as that held by Miss Meise," said Owner Crain.

It is remarkable how she has raced during the summer, shipping from one track to another, then going on just as successful in New Orleans during the winter.

Miss Meise started her record at Latonia October 19, 1923, by beating Or La La, with Ivan Parke, the leading rider of America, in the saddle.

From Latonia Miss Meise has made the following tracks, Churchill Downs, New Orleans and Hawthorne, several of them twice.

In 15 months of racing over all kinds of track and in all kinds of weather, Miss Meise hasn't been outside the money.

In her last start, Dec. 18, Miss Meise clipped a fifth of a second off the Jefferson track record of 1:42 3-5 set by Rocky Mountain two years ago.

LOOK TO SOPHOMORES
University of Michigan track and field coaches are expecting a great deal from sophomore athletes this season. Fact is, many of the second-year men stand a good chance of beating out some of the veterans. It is the best bunch of material that has come up to the varsity in some time, according to reports.

CARDINALS, TROJANS PLAN GRID CONTEST NEXT FALL; TRACK SQUADS MAY CLASH

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19.—University of Southern California athletic officials today began the perfecting of arrangements with Stanford university which will mark resumption of relations between the last two institutions for the first time since the row which threatened to disrupt Pacific Coast Conference athletics last fall.

President Rufus Von Klein Smid of U. S. C. announced that a conference between Trojan and Stanford representatives had effectively healed the breach and that Stanford teams would appear here twice this year.

The first of the engagements will be a track meet March 24 and a football game for the Coliseum has been scheduled for November 14. A baseball series for this spring may be arranged.

The University of California, which broke news of its decision to sever relations with U. S. C., a few minutes before the Bear-Trojan grid contest last fall, will not meet local teams this year but harmony will be restored later, it was stated.

Quarrel Over Protest
The quarrel between the colleges started over protestation of eligibility of U. S. C. athletes. After California broke with U. S. C., the Trojans hurriedly cancelled its Stanford game.

California announces that it will be impossible to arrange a varsity football game for the fall of 1925 because its football schedule has been arranged and cannot be re-adjusted. However, it is anticipated that the freshmen teams of California and U. S. C. will have a football match on the fall schedule.

Other games, it is said, will be arranged in various athletic lines and it is believed that another year will find the three big universities of the state functioning in all lines of college sports.

The move for a return to athletic relations was started last fall by University of Southern California. It is reported that trustees of that institution declared their willingness to accede to any requests that might come from the northern institutions.

Fire Gus Henderson
While unconfirmed, it is reported one of the demands was for the retirement of Gus Henderson as football coach. Still another move is to be seen in the recent announcement from Southern California that Harold J. Stonier and Warren Boyd would no longer be affiliated with the athletic situation in the Trojan school.

The so-called Martin case was of interest to both California and Southern California and the termination in January by dropping the student mentioned helped pave the way for resumption of friendly relations.

Paul Davis, graduate manager of Stanford, is at present in Los Angeles, and undoubtedly before his return home will arrange for the varsity football game that is to be staged.

TROJAN "HOUSE-CLEANING" HEALS BREACH
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 19.—The breach between U. S. C. on the one hand and the University of California and Stanford University on the other, has been healed, the hatchet buried, and athletic relations broken suddenly last fall, will be resumed as soon as schedules permit.

Decision to re-establish relations between the state's three biggest colleges was reached in a conference here last night attended by Harry J. Stonier, executive secretary to President Rufus Von Klein Smid of Southern California, Joel H. Hilderbrand, Pacific coast representative of the University of California and Edwin Cottrell, newly appointed conference representative for Stanford.

Negotiations looking toward settlement of the difficulties between the school were advanced last December by officials of the University of Southern California. Trustees of the southern institution were said to have agreed to several of the demands of the two northern schools, including the dropping of Martin, a protested football player, from athletics, and a general house-cleaning in athletics culminating in the retirement of Gus Henderson as football coach.

The executive committee of the associated students of California University have already approved the action taken at last night's conference, and it is expected that officials of Stanford will likewise endorse the move at the next meeting of the board of athletic control.

In view of the high standing in the circle of the advantage of being in its home drives has been the edge in the dope.

Penny Jones, Max Ames, Guy Martin, Bill Gordon and "Larry" Larsson will shoot for the Bowles quintette.

At least 50 Santa Ana fans are expected to accompany the locals to the Mother Colony.

The Santa Ana high school Class C (110 pound) basketball team defeated San Diego's quintette, 41 to 11. The locals will meet Sweetwater in the first play-off contest for the Southern California championship.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19.—Charles "Whitney" Glazier, right hand pitcher of the Philadelphia Nationals, was sold to the Los Angeles Pacific Coast league club today.

Glazier has been in the National league since 1921, most of the time with the Pittsburgh Pirates. In 1921, he led the Pittsburgh club with 14 victories and 3 defeats. He slumped badly in the next two seasons and Dreyfuss sold him to the Phillies last year.

ALARM CLOCK JAZZ
MELBOURNE, Australia, Feb. 19.—A young musician here decided there was music in everything. Even in an alarm clock. So he took a number of alarm clocks and filed the bells down until he had a perfect chromatic scale. Now he is awakened each morning with the clocks playing a chime-like tune.

LIKENS GAMES OF YOUTH TO THOSE OF LIFE

"Games of Life" was the topic of an address by Rev. F. T. Porter, pastor of the First Christian church of Santa Ana, speaking before the students of the Santa Ana junior college in assembly yesterday.

"In my boyhood days, we played the game 'I spy' among the hiding places of the farm-yard buildings," Porter said. "Sometimes today I think how wonderful it is to play this game in life. We may search for hidden truths or we may discover inner characteristics of good qualities in our friends in life's game."

"Then there was the game of 'Stage coach' where the participants in a circle changed chairs when their stations were called. When we can change positions with others about us, we are playing one of the big games of life."

"Stills are an encumbrance in playing the games of boyhood. Neither can anyone expect to succeed who wears stills in life's game and sets himself up above others, assuming the attitude of him who asks, 'Did God create you, too?' We must be on the same level with others in life."

"One of the greatest discoveries we can make is in finding two sides to everything. As a boy I remember the song of the bear that went over the mountain and 'all that he could see was the other side of the mountain.' It was an important discovery."

Rev. Porter closed with the remark that civilization advances as man is able to see beyond and understand the other side. On the program in addition to the address were violin solos by R. Fisher, accompanied by Miss Louise Mansfield. The selections given were "Rondino" and "The Song of Songs."

MODERN BILL TELLS

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 19.—The Australian range country has developed several modern William Tell. Using the famous long stock whip, about 25 to 35 feet in length. One ranchman cracks an apple off a boy's head, without injuring the boy in the least. Another is said to be able to place the ace of diamonds on top of a deck of cards and flick it off, without disarranging the rest of the cards. One expert is noted for being able to snap a coin off a man's head with the whip.

Deny Dempsey To Meet Gibbons at Pasadena's Bowl

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 19.—Jack Dempsey is preparing for two important battles the coming summer, including an encounter with Tommy Gibbons, but there are no negotiations under way for a Dempsey-Gibbons match at Pasadena, according to the champion's manager, Jack Kearns.

"If Eddie Kane has accepted an offer for Gibbons to meet Dempsey at Pasadena, it's news to me," Kearns said today in an interview. "We have numerous offers from all over the country for a Gibbons-Dempsey match, but the foremost bidders at the present time are Tex Rickard in New York, and Charles Henderson, with his big stadium at Brooklyn."

"FOUNDER'S DAY" IS MARKED BY P. T. A.

A celebration of "Founders' day" was observed Tuesday afternoon by members of the Franklin school P. T. A. in the kindergarten rooms. The program was of interest and included a variety of topics presented in an attractive manner.

The opening number, a song, by children of the third grade, reflected credit on their musical instructor, Miss Jensen. Charming was a vocal duet by two little girls, Dorothy Heinley and Margaret Hill, who sang a spring song, "The Meadow Lark."

Following these numbers was a patriotic and inspiring address by Charles E. Dixon of West Fourth street, a member of Franklin P. T. A., who presented to the school, in behalf of Spanish War Veterans, a very instructive chart of the national colors.

Miss Sweet, the school principal, accepted this gift in behalf of the school and announced that fitting exercises would be held on February 22, Washington's birthday, by the children in honor of the day and in appreciation of the gift. At that time Mrs. Stewart, P. T. A. president, will present a flag chart to each room of the Franklin school as the gift of Mr. Stewart, who is a Spanish War Veteran.

Mr. Dixon's address was followed by a talk on "Food Values," by a visiting nutritionist, Miss Huddleston, who gave much valuable information in a most pleasing manner.

The history of "Founders' day" was very delightfully reviewed by the president, Mrs. Stewart, and followed by Mrs. Goldworthy, who read a brief historical sketch of the past 28 years since the first "Mothers' Congress" was held in the city of Washington under the leadership of Mrs. Berney, the leader and founder of the organization.

Mrs. Phoebe Hearst is lovingly remembered for this beautiful service to the women of the nation. A silver offering was taken as a gift to the National Mothers' congress and Parent-Teachers' association on this its 28th birthday.

It was resolved that the Franklin P. T. A. give an evening entertainment in the near future and after some discussion it was decided it should be a play. Full particulars will be announced later in the Register. Following the program refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed. The Franklin P. T. A. is a flourishing organization. Parents and teachers have united their sincere efforts in the interest of the entire school.

CHATTY GOSSIP OF NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—There is no adventure to be had in New York quite as stirring as a ferry ride through the fog. Pilots cannot see more than a few feet ahead, yet they know the river and harbor are as warm as craft.

Direction is found by sound. The various wharves have bells of varying tone and the pilot recognizes his own particular bell heads in the direction.

All craft keep up an incessant blowing of whistles and ringing of bells. They proceed at a very slow pace.

All of which creates for the ferry passenger an atmosphere of great suspense. Some great bulk is likely to loom up at the side of the boat any minute. There will be screeching of whistles and the churning of water as the vessels are thrown into reverse. There may be a collision, passengers being hurled to the decks.

But the thrill is in putting foot ashore after the ride.

A heavy fog will discommode hundreds of thousands of those who work in New York and bring about heavy financial losses to business firms.

The only means of transportation between Staten Island and Manhattan are the ferries. The trip under normal conditions takes from 20 to 35 minutes, depending on the state of the tide. In a heavy fog, such as New York has experienced for several days, the trip takes several hours.

Many thousands of workers in New York live in New Jersey, traveling through the under-river tubes on foggy mornings. Those in north Jersey are dependent on the ferries.

W. J. Perry, a cultural anthropologist, of London, says that "Nordics" die out in urban centers like London and that the big cities are only for the short dark-haired and brown-eyed type. I do not know enough about the subject to argue the way or the other, but observations in New York indicate that he is right. All the Nordics I know here talk about being farmers some day.

Add inconsequential statistics: There were 84,137 fewer trunks and parcels handled at the Pennsylvania terminal here during 1924 than in 1923, when the total was 1,639,163. This is accounted for by new immigration and tariff provisions and the tendency of women to travel with smaller wardrobes.

PUP FIGHTS SNAKES

MELBOURNE, Australia, Feb. 19.—A young pup her is the terror of snakes. It has been bitten at least 10 times by poisonous snakes, but the venom has no effect on it. The pup tries to kill every snake it sees, and after each fight it runs for a small pond, plunges in and stays there for a few minutes. This process seems to give the dog immunity from the poisonous bites. The pup has killed at least 20 snakes and is only a year old.

HORSE SOUNDS ALARM

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 19.—A horse here proved to be a good burglar alarm. Two men broke into a store and then attempted to steal a horse from a neighboring stable to carry off their loot, valued at about $500. The horse didn't like the idea and began to neigh so loudly that it awakened the owner of the property, forcing the robbers to flee empty handed.

NOW DOES ALL HER WORK

Has No Backache, No Bad Feelings Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Drove Her Illness Away

Milwaukee, Wisconsin.—"I was in a badly run-down condition and I would get weak spells and terrible headaches. I felt so badly that I could not do any housecleaning. The minute I would lift or stoop it seemed as if I was going to fall to pieces. I told a neighbor how I felt and she said that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was surely the right thing for me. I took four bottles then and in the fall of the year I took three. I had been treated by a doctor but he gave me iron tonic and that did not help me. It seemed that the tonic did not have in it what the Vegetable Compound did. That gave me the strength and ambition I needed and I have gained in weight. This year before I started to clean house I got four bottles of the Vegetable Compound and am taking it right along. I tell all my friends about it and how much good it does me. They can notice it because I have gained in weight. I weigh 118 now and do all my work myself again."

For Deep Chest
Colds

All colds should be treated with vapors, for vapors alone can carry the air passages and lungs.
Vicks is a "vapor" treatment in salve form. For deep chest colds you first apply hot wet towels over throat and chest to open the pores, then massage briskly with Vicks for 5 minutes, spread on thickly and cover with a flannel cloth.

Vicks not only penetrates like a poultice or plaster, but the ingredients, vaporized by the body heat, are inhaled all night long.
This double action usually checks the most stubborn cold overnight.

BILL PROVIDES CHURCH SCHOOL CLASS PERIODS

Attracting more than ordinary attention and made a subject of considerable discussion and comment in local school and P-T. A.
circles, as well as in church centers, is Assembly bill No. 128, introduced by Assemblywoman Miller, excusing children in the public schools for certain periods each week for the purpose of receiving instruction in religion.

The bill reads:
"The board of education of any city, or city or county, or the board of trustees of any school district shall, upon the written request of parents or guardian, excuse his or her child for 60 to 180 minutes in any week to permit such child to attend a week-day school giving instruction in religion. Said child may be excused at any hour of the day designated by the said school authorities, provided that such child so excused shall be held accountable for all work prescribed for his class."

Experience in holding week-day church schools during school hours in 27 states has shown that from 85 to 100 per cent of the available school children attend them, according to reports received by local school authorities, quoting a statement of the Rev. W.
A. Squires, director of Week-Day
Religious Instruction of the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education, New York city. On the other hand, Dr. Squires states, if the religious schools were held after the regular hour for dismissal only 75 per cent of the children would attend them.

Many View Fine
'Galilee' Canvas

The beautiful painting, "The Man of Galilee," by Thoma, which has been on display at the J. C.
Horton Furniture company's store for the past week, has already been viewed by several thousands.

Classes of students, ministers and groups of congregations from all over the county have spent hours in silent admiration, while hundreds have come back for restudy two or more times.

The painting will be on display only a few days more. The exhibition is free, and the public invited to come and stay as long as they like.

Capital Letter

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—
Weird tales of buried treasure, of international conspiracies involving former diplomats, of clandestine romance in high society and of a vast subterranean labyrinth leading to a bootleggers'
rendezvous, held Washington breathless for three days last fall following the discovery of an elaborate maze of underground passageways in the heart of the better residence section of the city.

All sorts of wild stories were started as to the origin and use of the tunnels.
Then, the bubble of speculation, which had clothed them with the romance of intrigue and mystery, was burst by an announcement
by Dr. Harrison Gray Dyer, custodian of lepidoptera in the National Museum, that he had built the tunnels by way of getting exercise.

Now, however, folks are wondering whether perhaps there wasn't something to the "buried treasure" story after all.

For Dr. Dyer appears as purchaser, for a price of $2,300,000, one of the largest and most elaborate apartment properties in the capital.

Anyway, all admit that as a "digger" Dr. Dyer seems to have got somewhere.

A celebration of first rank, designed to give a rebirth to American ideals and new stimulus to American achievement, is proposed for Washington in 1932. The occasion would be the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of George Washington.

Tentative plans for a fitting national celebration of Washington's bi-centennial already have been discussed by President Coolidge with the congressional members of a commission which will have the arrangements in charge.

Historical and patriotic organizations, as well as leaders in American progress in art, science, industry and finance, have been given places on the body which will plan the celebration.

General Isaac Sherwood of Toledo, O., who at 90 is the oldest member of congress, sang his
"swan song" to the house a few days ago in a speech contrasting the life of a congressman in Washington today and 52 years ago today.

As an index of the comparative cost of government today and then, when General Grant was just starting his second term,
Sherwood said:

"I remember the appropriation for salaries, clerk hire and upkeep of the White House that year was $42,800. This year we give out President the tidy sum of $500,000."

"General Grant had no bodyguard, no military staff, no White House police. I remember meeting him many times walking down Pennsylvania avenue alone."

"Members of congress got $5000 a year salary. We had to rent our offices out of our salary and we had to take our pen in hand to answer kicking letters from our constituents."

"We had no department of agriculture, hence the farmers were contented and reasonably prosperous."

favorite everlasting. Kerfoot's

England from the Hood River

was a letter saying that the grow-

He states he is rather wealthy,
owns a large orchard, a well equipped house and four motor cars. Several girls here are writing to the apple man.

Wintersburg-Smeltzer

WINTERSBURG AND SMELTZER, Feb. 19.—A community gathering and pot luck supper will be held in the community hall, Friday evening, commencing at 6 o'clock.
Mrs. G. M. Iversen in company with her cousin, Miss Irma De Barr, of Santa Ana, attended on Saturday a reunion of the Hagler family, of which Mrs. Robertson's mother was a member. The gathering was held at Bixby park, Long Beach, with adjournment later to one of the relatives homes. Twenty were present.

Loraine Taylor, 14-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Taylor of Wintersburg, was severely burned over almost the entire body Monday when she fell from her high chair and into the stove, the boiling water time knocked a pan of water splashing over her. She is expected to recover. Mr. Taylor drove to Burbank the day of the accident, and brought her Mrs.
Taylor's mother, Mrs. Foote, who will remain to assist in the baby's care.

Mrs. E. R. Moore and Miss Florence Suiter on Tuesday evening attended a recital of Mrs. Bishop's pupils at the Conservatory of Music in Santa Ana. Miss Suiter is a pupil of Mrs. Bishop and is taking voice culture.

With the valentine season as an incentive, Mrs. E. Ray Moore, teacher of the Sunshine class of Wintersburg Methodist church, gave a party at her home for the boys and girls who are members of the class. Indoor games were played and a merry time enjoyed, then the water were ushered into the dining room, where each found his place at prettily appointed refreshment tables by the aid of cleverly arranged valentines as place cards. Those present were
Lee Morgan, Denis Russell, Dean
Woodcock, Delma Stinson, Kenneth
Moore, June Slater, Bonnelly Fox,
Lucille Campbell, Vernon Helmick, Isabel Russell, Marie McMillen, Ella Murdy, Marjorie Cowling, Geraldine Gardiner and Marion Standish.

Special services for next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock will be held at the local Methodist church. Mr. Risdon pit and will speak on George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. Mr.

Risdon has made a special study of the lives of these men. Selections will be sung by the Phillips quartet.

I'll Pay $25

Per box for a better powder

By Edna Wallace Hopper, I paid to pay $5 per box for my powder. They were made to my order, and the makers proved them the best powders in existence.

I will gladly pay $25 per box for any better powder. And countless friends of mine on the stage and in movies will do likewise.

But I am convinced that I obtain the best powders yet produced. And, by thousands of requests, I now supply them to all who use what I use.

These powders are still made to my order. But now, in supplying all women, I order by the hundred thousand boxes. So I supply them to you at the cost of ordinary powders.

These powders are matchless creations, made by specialists in powders. All the lore of powder making is embodied in them. As fine as vapor, as harmless as dew, and fragrant with my favorite perfume.

There are two kinds—light and heavy. My favorite is the heavy powder, in square box, based on my Youth Cream. It clings and stays. That's my Youth Cream Powder. It costs $1.

But I have the same powder made light and fluffy for people who prefer it. And that light powder in round boxes sells at 50c. All druggists and toilet counters have both. And both come in three shades—white, flesh and brunette.

Mail this coupon and I will send you samples of both. They will change your whole conception of fine powder. Please do that if you think I know the best.

NAMES 'WONDERFUL DOCTOR' IN SUIT

A "wonderful doctor" who figured in the love affairs of Helen M. Scott, according to her husband, William M. Scott, remained unidentified today, beyond that description applied by the enamored Mrs. Scott, as set forth in the husband's superior court petition for divorce.

Scott did not name the "wonderful doctor," but said that his wife humiliated him by telling her friends of a love affair with the physician before her marriage. "Then I fell for that bum," referring to her husband, Mrs. Scott was alleged to have told her friends. She said the "wonderful doctor" had ended their friendship by getting married.

Scott, who was salesman for an auto club here, said his wife criticized his work as "not being a man's job." She once asked him for $15 for the purchase of a gun, so that she might commit suicide, Scott said.

The Scotts were married in Denver, May 1, 1922, and separated January 20, this year. Attorney Charles D. Swanner represents Scott.

Edgar H. Waynant, who was one of three husbands seeking divorce today in the superior court, charged his wife, Kathryn Waynant, with cruelty. She nagged and found fault, accused him falsely, and went to dances without him, he alleged.

The Waynants were married in August 1921 at Grand Island, Nebraska, and separated in January, 1922. Attorney James L. Hansen, Huntington Beach, is counsel for the plaintiff in the divorce action.

OUR—NEIGHBORS

SAN BERNARDINO.—Scores of prospectors are rushing across the desert to the mountains two miles east of the old Vontzinger Springs where, it is reported, that free milling gold running as high as $1000 a ton has been struck. The scene of the strike is near the old Vontzinger mine, operated more than 20 years, and in a country where prospectors have wandered for years hunting gold and other precious ores. According to reports reaching the city prospectors are staking out claims for miles around the reported sensational strike.

CORONA.—As soon as resurfacing of the Santa Ana canyon highway, from the Orange county line to Corona, is completed, County Road Superintendent W. S. Conner expects to commence work on similar repaving of the concrete from Corona to May Tower, on the Corona-Riverside road. This will probably be commenced the first of next week, as present indications point to completion of the canyon job this week.

GLENDALE.—Preliminary plans for organization of an association that will be charged with the annual management of Glendale's historical pageant and fiesta were laid at a meeting of the heads of the various civic organizations and service clubs here. It is proposed to present a pageant that will reflect the various events that have transpired in this region from the days of the Spanish occupation down to the present time.

LONG BEACH.—Two hundred city employees, working in various departments in the city hall, are up in arms over the latest ukase emanating from the city manager's office. The order requires that all city employees give a full eight hours of their time each day to the municipality and points out that too much time is lost by employees who, after reporting for work in the morning, spent several minutes "visiting with each other before getting down to work." "It isn't that we are not willing to work our full time, even eight hours, although the city charter expressly provides for only seven and a half hours each day," said one city hall official.

SAN BERNARDINO.—Proposed increase in salary for elective officers of the city government will be voted upon by the citizens of San Bernardino at a special election to be held April 1. The special election, coming only two weeks prior to the regular city primaries, is necessary to insure the matter going to the legislature in time for action at the present session. Salaries to be increased providing the amendment passes, are: Mayor, from $1500 to $3000; city attorney, $1500 to $3000; city clerk, $1500 to $2400; police judge, $1500 to $2400; city councilmen, $500 to $1000.

"CURLYTOP" OPENS AT WEST END TONIGHT
 Another of Thomas Burke's celebrated "Limehouse Nights" stories has been transferred to the screen with amazing results. The latest of the little gutter-snipe who was the envy of all the girls and the desire of all the men of London's dark and mysterious Chinatown, plague spot of crime and filth. This picture begins a three-day engagement at the West End tonight.

Is this surprising to the Shirley Mason fans? The explanation is a blonde wig. Yes, the little Fox star for the first time in her screen career drew a part which called for the hiding of her dark and bobbed tresses under a wig of golden curls. And the result is although it may not be complimentary to Shirley's natural "crowning glory" that the beautiful little actress is more charming than ever.

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS

YOST—Vaudeville and "Inez from Hollywood," with Anna Nilsson and Lewis Stone.
WEST END—"Curlytop," with Shirley Mason and "The Arizona Romeo," with Buck Jones.
WALKER—"The Redeeming Sin," with Nazimova.

"INEZ FROM HOLLYWOOD"

AT YOST TONIGHT

Anna Q. Nilsson has five leading men, including several stars, in one scene of "Inez From Hollywood," the picture to be shown at the Yost theater tonight, Friday and Saturday.

Antonio Moreno, Wallace Beery, Lloyd Hughes, Ben Lyon and Ford Sterling all appear in one sequence, having luncheon in her staid dressing room. It affords an intimate glimpse of studio life, and goes a long way to prove that one can not judge motion picture people by the personalities which they register on the screen.

Lewis Stone is co-featured with Anna Q. Nilsson in this production, and although he does not appear with the above mentioned stars in the "vampire's" dressing room, his role supplies one of the finest dramatic characterizations of his eminent career.

Miss Nilsson plays in this picture the part of a woman who has won notoriety as a home-wrecking "vamp," but who, as soon as her work is done, throws off her mask of meretricious appeal and becomes a very human and likeable young woman.

"THE REDEEMING SIN" CLOSING TONIGHT

Have you a little necklace in your home? If you have, or even if you haven't, you will be interested in the mysterious theft of a priceless pearl necklace in the absorbing photoplay, "The Redeeming Sin."

This attraction, produced by J. Stuart Blackton, closes at Walker's theater tonight. The great Nazimova is the star. In this picture she makes her debut with Vitagraph, an event well worth celebrating.

A fine cast supports the celebrated artist, with Lou Tellegen in the role of leading man. All the scenes are laid in Paris, and the underworld night life of that great city are revealed with accuracy. The famous Paris sewers, familiar to all readers of fiction, dealing with the French capital, are depicted.

The story is a moving one, with romance, suspense, comedy and thrills mingled colorfully.

"ARIZONA ROMEO" AT WEST END TONIGHT

Do not allow yourself to be deceived into thinking that "The Arizona Romeo," picture showing tonight at the West End, is just "another western photoplay." In reality, it is a comedy, a drama, a thriller, a touch of society life romance and big business all thrown together into the melting pot of filmdom and emerging as a corking good evening's entertainment.

The story opens in New York with Richard Wayne trying to bring to a conclusion a matrimonial alliance between his daughter, Sylvia and the son of his business partner.

Realizing that his daughter is not particularly impressed with his choice and seeing only one way of overcoming her prejudice he resorts to strategy.

He accuses the young man, who incidentally is his secretary, of embezzlement and threatens to send him to prison if his daughter still persists in marrying him. The ruse succeeds, for Sylvia inheriting a part of her father's obstinacy, champions the young man's cause and agrees to marry him.

The following scenes are laid in a small western town in Arizona where Sylvia and her maid open

WHEN YOU CATCH COLD RUB ON MUSTEROLE

Musterole is easy to apply and it gets in its good work right away. Often it prevents a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. Just apply Musterole with the fingers. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster without the blister.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of all sorts.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole. 25c and 65c. Jars and tubes; hospital size, $3.00

GET READY TO GO TO COURT

We are not attempting to pass judgment upon the damages and benefits concerned in the proposal of the State Highway commission that the state highway be routed straight across the mouth of Aliso canyon, between Laguna Beach and Serra. Since the owner of the property and the representatives of the county cannot come to an agreement under which a right of way can be secured, it looks as though the rights and wrongs are a matter for the contemplation of a court.

Of course, the property owned by J. S. Thurston will receive some damage should the state highway be cut twenty or thirty feet deep in front of his mesa property and put on top of a fill twenty or thirty feet high across Aliso beach, which he owns. On the other hand, the coming of the state highway will bring distinct lifting of values in the Thurston holdings. The trouble with negotiations so far seems to be that those who want the right of way given free can see nothing but the benefits, while in the eye of the owner the damages loom as large as the mountain that stands sentinel over the highway under controversy.

While not endeavoring to offer an opinion as to who is right and who is wrong in the matter, The Register does insist that there is no good reason for an indefinite delay. By an agreement that the county must live up to, the county is to furnish the right of way and the bridges for the State Highway. Until the right of way is secured the State Highway Commission can do nothing. Of course, the fact that the county runs up against a snag in securing the right of way is no reason for abandoning the project. It is merely a situation that necessitates delay. The only delay necessary in this matter is one that will give the county time to provide in its next year's budget for sufficient funds to make the necessary settlement should judgment be given in court against it.

In the situation at Aliso, there seems to be no probability that the State Highway Commission will change its routing. The state's job is to put the highway where it will best serve the public not only for the next five years but for the next century or more. The state has given its decision, and that decision won't be changed to please a property owner or to save the county money.

With property owner and county deadlocked, nothing remains but the necessity of a condemnation suit. The county might as well get ready to sue; if the jury finds that Thurston will not be damaged, the right of way will go to the county without cost; if the jury finds that Thurston's property will be damaged as extensively as he says it will, the county must be prepared to pay the price. One thing is certain, now that the state is willing to do the thing for which we have been working for years, we had best proceed lest the state change its plans. There are plenty of other places in California waiting and anxious to provide the state with rights of way for new highways.

MUSIC FLOURISHING

"Music," says an observer of public amusements, "can hardly be said to be a neglected art in the United States."

Verily not, if the figures he quotes are correct. The nation's music bill is said to be $600,000,000 a year, not counting the cost of radio sets, which are really the leading musical instruments today.

Also consider this fact: There are 13,000 music clubs in the country. Twenty-five years ago there were only 38, and musical writers were despairing of the musical soul of America.

Artistically, America is certainly coming along. There is great progress in literature, and much fine activity in painting and architecture. Sculpture lags, but even that shows some promise.

WHAT THE ALLIES FOUGHT FOR

Italy, franker than France, has started a campaign to repudiate her "so-called war debts." It is voiced by Roman newspapers as follows:

Italy and France both made a great human sacrifice. England and America, especially the latter, made far less sacrifice, and reaped all manner of advantages, especially economic. The state of the dollar and the pound sterling in international exchange, as compared with the lira and franc, prove this. To demand that the two poor partners pay the two rich ones is "absurd and immoral." The debts do not exist. England, having a guilty conscience, promised to pay the United States, which was a mistake, but hesitates about making France pay. Italy "owes no war debts, but can discuss the matter with England."

Heigho! Rome was not talking like this when the Italian government pleaded for loans at Washington, and was given $1,647,000,000.

It may be granted that any of America's war partners are justified in asking for friendly consideration. But when Italy thus coolly proposes to cancel her own debts on the ground that she got nothing and America got everything, it is in order to ask why the various powers fought, and what their relative interests were in the war.

France fought Germany under absolute compulsion to save her own life and possessions. Her championship of the world's liberties was an afterthought. Great Britain went in ostensibly to save Belgium, but actually to defend herself. She realized that if France went down, she would be next. It was a war for her sea power, her commerce, her empire, and ultimately for her own life.

Italy joined the Allies cold-bloodedly, to destroy her old oppressor and actual rival Austria, and make herself a greater power. Her later enthusiasm for democracy was borrowed from America. If she had remained neutral, and Germany and Austria had won, they would have destroyed her.

Japan went in mildly to keep the letter of her British alliance and strengthen herself in Asia.

America, alone of important combatants on the allied side, could have avoided the war, though at the cost of her own self-respect and the menace of a growing peril. She went in mainly as a matter of honor, to assert her own rights when they were flouted by Germany and to save free nations from German militarism, with the more distant object of keeping Germany from threatening the New World after mastering the Old, knowing that in the end Germany would attack the United States.

All fought in self-defense, directly or indirectly, but America least of all, because she was least menaced. All fought for freedom, but America most of all.

Others had definite material gains in view, at least in the back of their minds—England greater world trade and territory, France the reconquest of Alsace-Lorraine, Italy her "Italia Irredenta" and Mediterranean supremacy, etc. America expected nothing but a clear conscience and material and human loss. And in spite of apparent "war profits," that is about all she got.

Penalizing Progress

Long Beach Press-Telegram.

No Congressional reapportionment will be permitted at the session about to close. States which would lose representation through the more rapid growth of other States, and States which are indifferent, are responsible for the continued delay in rearranging district lines as the Constitution provides. The result is that those states which have been growing most rapidly are not permitted to extend this growth to their Congressional delegations.

California should have at least three more Congressmen. The Ninth District alone should make two districts, and on the basis of the last reapportionment following the 1910 census there is sufficient population here to constitute very nearly three districts. The Ninth District, in which Long Beach is located, is one of the most populous in the United States. The Tenth District, which comprises the balance of Los Angeles county, likewise should be divided.

If such representation could be based upon the registered vote, or better still upon the active vote as averaged at the general elections of the preceding decade, a fair distribution of the people's power would be enforced, and California would gain five or six Congressmen instead of three. Such a plan would cause the Southern States to lose an aggregate of about fifty seats in the House of Representatives; and certain of the Eastern States, including some of those in New England, also would experience losses. The outcome would be the transferring of eighty or more seats from the rural sections of the South and East with a few perhaps from the Middle West to the larger cities and to the rapidly developing Pacific Southwest.

Probably it will be impossible to procure consent for such a radical change in the manner of reapportionment of national legislative privileges; but the suggestion is gaining favor, and must impress itself upon any citizen who is willing to be fair.

Must Satisfy the Buyer

Fresno Republican.

The interest of California producers is heavily involved in the fruit standardization conferences that have been called by State Director George H. Hecke for next Saturday in San Francisco and the following Saturday in Exeter.

Those who attend from central California should bend every energy as well as display every possible good will toward arriving at a statewide agreement.

But there is a moral standard to be maintained, as well as a legal one to be agreed on. This moral standard is that California producers must cater to the needs as well as the wishes of Eastern buyers of fruit, primarily. Those producers who go into conference and seek to draft laws to accord with their own needs, rather than the needs of the retail buyer, are looking at matters with the wrong squint. We have always, as a fruit producing state, gotten the worst of it when we have considered ourselves solely. The buyer is the man to be pleased.

We are just fooling ourselves if we think that anybody has to buy California fruit. No one has to buy. The consumer must be pleased, not compelled.

We ought to have a "California" standard. But if we can't there is just one thing to do to protect ourselves through the consumers. That is to have individual brands that mean satisfaction to the buyer.

World Wants Originality

Glendale News.

Imitation is the sincerest flattery, it is said, but that is about all that can be said of it. Somebody sings a new song, someone writes in a different style, someone originates something and makes a hit and there are a hundred to follow in his footsteps, thinking they can duplicate his success by imitation. But the world wants originality. There is a constant demand for something new. The popular person is the one with initiative and creative ability.

Cities as well as persons are prone to imitate, but Riverside is not in this class. That city has opened its second annual tourist-greeting season, an enterprise for which the city deserves congratulation and commendation. Beautiful Riverside girls in Spanish costume meet the trains and extend the welcome of the southland in the form of golden oranges to the visitors and newcomers. Riverside has made a hit by greeting tourists in this way. Someone has said that originality is simply a pair of fresh eyes.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

HEART ACTIVITY
The authorities do not permit a physician to give "heart failure" as a cause of death. They state that as everybody really dies because the heart fails to beat, they require that the cause be stated, that led up to the heart failure.

There was a joke current a few years ago, regarding the surgeon who told his fellow doctors about a wonderful operation he had performed, but unfortunately the patient died the same day. You hear perhaps of some friend or acquaintance with pneumonia—a lung ailment, or typhoid—an intestinal condition—who were apparently getting along all right, but suddenly the heart began to falter, and finally ceased to beat.

The flu epidemic of 1918 carried off a lot of people, many of them in their prime of early manhood or womanhood. Flu affects the bronchial tubes and lungs, and sometimes the intestine, but most of the folks died because the heart was not able to do its work.

Why does the heart seem to give out sooner in some people than in others?

How is it that with two cases of the same ailment, both men of same age, weight, and apparent strength, that one will have trouble early with the heart, and require stimulants of all kinds to carry him over the crisis, and the other go through the illness with no embarrassment of the heart at all? This is hard to explain. We must remember that we are talking about muscle, the heart muscle, and apparently it has some of the same characteristics as the other muscles in the body.

What do I mean? Well, you've seen two chaps of same height, weight, and build, and one can lift twice as much as the other, can run faster, or for a longer distance, without being tired. He has a better type of muscle, either inherited or acquired by training.

And the lesson for you and me? That all we can do is to take the kind of heart that was given us, and train it to the best development. Walking, or slow running, will do it for us, safely and surely.

Getting Ambitious Again

Vision of Children

Pasadena Star-News

The blessedness of vision! The glorious gift of sight! It is appreciated most keenly, perhaps, when it is lost. Or perhaps it is most acutely appreciated when it comes for the first time, as it has to a boy and a girl from the Colorado home for the blind and deaf. Surgical operations brought these youngsters sight for the first time. They were taken about Denver, and reveled in the sights—even finding beauty in the color of bricks! The boy knew the shape of bricks, from feeling—but he could not grasp their color until his eyes were in such condition as to give him the vision of the color. All day long those two children were in ecstasies over the things they saw—saw for the first time. Their young lives had been spent in the dim land of shadows, bereft of sight.

Do you feel unfortunate, at times—feel that you are the child of misfortune, the victim of adversity. But if your eyes are sound; if your senses are unimpaired; if you have good health, why should you repine? You have riches beyond calculation. Consider the plight of the blind, and the deaf, and the paralyzed. They are truly unfortunate—and yet many, thus afflicted, are cheerful and are thankful for other blessings and are patient under their affliction.

God is good. He gives His children riches in their own bodies, minds and souls. And should He send affliction, even that affliction may be a source of wealth in character and in soul-development.

PEOPLE

Dorothy Gird Cromer in Sunset

Some people are like shadows on a wall;
Empty and profitless, they yield no shade;
Restless, imprisoned shapes—and that is all;
Giving no joy, no joy for them is made.
And others are like trees, sure and serene,
Glad of life's sunlight, patient of its scars;
Beneath its driving rain they burgeon green;
Their deepest night is glorified with stars!

Ideals of Loyal Knights of the Round Table

By Carlos G. White, International Governor of Extension.

The American Service Club movement has developed entirely during the past twenty years and has extended around the world. The Round Table was founded fourteen hundred years ago.

The true service clubs in America during the past twenty years, as a whole, have developed these ideals:

First, Fellowship amongst men of diversified business and professional interests.

Second, Absolute avoidance of any of that false fellowship created by the use of intoxicating liquors.

Third, An absolute ban on the smutty story or suggestive remarks on the part of members, speakers or guests; and Fourth, The development of the ideal of unselfish service to others as the true attitude in life.

The distinctive features of the Loyal Knights of the Round Table, in part, are as follows:

First, An emphasis upon what President Harding defined "Americanism" to consist of—loyal, co-operative living—loyalty to one's finer ideals in life, a co-operative attitude toward all mankind and all good movements, and the living of one's ideals in the practical affairs of life.

Second, Possession of a literary and legendary background and setting for the fine ideals of the modern Round Table, afforded by the ancient Round Table of King Arthur.

Third, A motto based upon the ancient legend of "Excalibur," detailing how Arthur discovered his own royal character and attained the throne of Britain while seeking the sword, not for his own use but for the use of his foster brother, the motto being, "He who seeks to serve another, best serves himself."

Fourth, A public Ceremony of Reception into Knighthood, where in the story of the sword and stone is dramatized and the ideal of unselfish service to others vividly pictured; and Fifth, An Honorary degree of Knighthood, limited to one hundred and twenty-eight in the world who have lived in an exceptional way, this Honorary Knighthood at present embracing Luther Burbank, Thomas A. Edison and Charles Evans Hughes.

Membership in a service club exalting such ideals serves a three-fold purpose and benefit:

First, To the membership;

Second, To the local community;

Third, To the world.

The true service club brings to its membership an hour of relaxation from the strain of business and professional life, with uplifting fellowship coupled with a weekly program of education and inspiration covering the whole field of modern business and professional life.

Often a speaker, in a twenty-minute address, gives to the membership the matured results of a lifetime of study and consideration of some particular subject. Like a college education, these talks make for a better and broader citizenship and inspire the membership to acts of local community service, such as boys' work and the like, and keep the business and professional men in the city informed on matters of civic interest.

The building up of each service club of high ideals is a distinct community benefit, for therein a new group of men are brought into the light of community activity and therein develop in ideals, power and personality.

Another aspect of the International service club movement, oftentimes overlooked, is its national and international effect. Today America occupies the most advanced position in her attitude toward the other nations of the world. We sincerely desire peace and to be of help to humanity. This is in harmony with the thought which the service clubs have been teaching in every community in our nation during the past twenty years.

When the business and professional men throughout the world come to realize the wisdom of unselfish service, when the American spirit of "Live and Let Live" becomes the prevailing spirit of the world, when the great nations of Europe appreciate this great thought which is wrapped up in the motto of the Round Table, "He who serves another, best serves himself," then, indeed, will the world be saved and safe for humanity. A permanent world peace cannot be attained solely through the efforts of diplomats and statesmen. The efforts of these men must be backed up by the public opinion of every great nation, and one of the great forces continually working toward world peace is found in the teachings and associations of the great international service clubs.

The Round Table, with its ideals and its fellow service clubs, is a force working throughout the world to make effective the brotherhood of man.

Slowing Earth

On the basis of what they have observed from eclipses, scientists declare that the days of 1925 are about one-tenth of a second longer than the days of 10,000 years ago, and that by the year 1925 still another tenth of a second will be added to the span which we now measure as exactly twenty-four hours. The explanation, those who have studied the problem, believe, lies in the friction of the tides in shallow bodies of water, which slows up the earth's daily revolution. Since the war scientists have actually measured this friction in various places and are confident that the amount is sufficient to produce the retarding action.—Popular Mechanics.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 10—CLOTHES MAKE THE MAN

"Hello!" said the Scare Crow to Mister Peg Leg and Nancy and Nick. "Where are you going?"

"We're peddling," said Nick. "What's peddling?" asked the Scare Crow. "Is it anything like the Scare Crow?"

"No," laughed Mister Peg Leg, the fairy peddler man. "It isn't like it at all. It's selling. I'm trying to make enough money to buy a new peg leg for myself. Mine is wearing out."

"Well, well, well!" said the Scare Crow. "I hadn't noticed it before, but our legs are just alike—yours and mine. I must be a peg leg, too!"

"That's right," said Mister Peg Leg. "We're twins just like these children here."

"What are you selling?" asked the Scare Crow.

"Everything," said Mister Peg Leg. "Everything from spoon-holders to wigs. Would you like to buy something?"

"Yes, I certainly would!" sighed the Scare Crow. "But when my master, the farmer, dressed me, he didn't leave any money in the pockets of his old clothes. I'm broke!"

"Yes, I did notice that you were bending," said Mister Peg Leg. "But I didn't think you were quite that bad."

The Scare Crow laughed. "I don't mean that way. I said I was 'broke.' That means I have no money."

"Oh, excuse me!" said Mister Peg Leg.

"You're excused," said the Scare Crow. "My straw feelings are not easily hurt."

"Well, we'll be going," said Mister Peg Leg. "Come on, children! Good-bye, Mister Crow."

"Scare," corrected the other.

"Please don't forget my first name. It's more important than the last. Sorry I can't buy anything. I certainly do need some new clothes. I look like a rag bag."

Suddenly Nick had an idea. "Let's fix Mister Scare Crow up," cried "Haven't you some extra things you won't need, Mister Peg Leg?"

"The little fairymen laughed. 'Sure, I have!' he declared. 'All clothes go out of date so quickly. I'm sure I have some that would do nicely.'"

He opened his pack and the Twins took off the Scare Crow's old clothes and put on the new ones that Mister Peg Leg laid out.

The Scare Crow was so pleased he grinned from ear to ear.

"I'm sure I've ever so 'much obliged," he said. "Now, I can stand straighter and take some pride in myself. Clothes certainly make the man."

"You're welcome," said Mister Peg Leg. "Come, children, we'll have to be going now. I will never make my fortune this way."

The next day they passed the corn field—and there stood Scare Crow in his old clothes.

"What's the matter?" cried Nancy. "What's happened?"

"The farmer took them," said the Scare Crow gloomily. "He said that new clothes might make the man, but that it took old clothes to make a scare crow. Much obliged just the same, folks."

"Well, well, well!" said the fairy peddler as they moved along. "I knew it was hard to sell things, but I didn't know it was so hard to give things away."
